WALL STREET MANY STOCKS RECORD NEW 1930 TOPS IN LATE TRADE

U. S. Steel Reaches 189 1/4,
Up 4 3/4 Points, and Highest Level Since the November Break.

CALL MONEY RATE SHOWS ADVANCE

Buying of High - Grade Shares Has Effect on the Market Following an Irregular Period.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Establishment of a new high level since the November break by U. S. Steel common at 189 1/4, up 4 3/4, featured the irregularly higher price movement in today's stock market.
Final quotations disclosed a preponderance of net gains, which ran from 1 to nearly 9 points in the active issues, and from 10 to 20 points in a few ordinarily inactive specialties. Early declines of 1 to 3 1/2 points were cut in half, or eased out, in the late afternoon trading.

"Bull" operators finally gained the advantage after nearly a week's struggle for control of the price
movement. "Bear" traders succeeded in hammering down an assortment of outstanding shares and specialties, sending a few to new low prices for the year, but they were unable to unsettle the general list. Steel and public utilities led the advance, which finally embraced the railroad shares, which started the day with a reactionary tendency.

Steel Above December Peak.
At its high price today, United States Steel was fractionally above
the peak reached in the December advance, and more than 20 points
above the price at which stock recently was offered to employees under the corporation's partial payment plan. Vanadium Steel and Yonkers Steel and Tube closed
6 1/2 and 6 3/4 points higher, respectively, and Republic showed a net gain of nearly 5 points.

The best prices of the day, as a rule, were registered in the last part of trading despite the fact that the call money rate was marked up from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent when banks are reported to have called $20,000,000 in loans, presumably to meet mid-month dividend interest and pay roll payments. Time money also was somewhat firmer, some of the longer
dates commanding as high as 5 per cent as against a maximum of 4 1/2 yesterday.

Record Price for Tobacco.
American Kodak ran up 12 1/2
points to a new high at 245.
American Machine and Foundry
jumped 10 points, Brooklyn Union
Gas 3 1/2, and Consolidated Gas,
New York Central, Westaco Shlomo, Canadian Pacific, Norfolk & Southern, United States Industrial Alcohol and Air Reduction closed
2 1/2 to 3 1/2 points higher. American Tobacco B was marked up 3 1/2 points to 23 1/2, the best price in its history.

In odd lot transactions, Hocking Valley soared 30 points, New York & Harlem 6, Vulcan Detachment common 14 1/2, and the A stock 13.

Pittsburg Coal and J. I. Case led a list of about 2 1/2 cents a share, with wheat futures leading the commodity markets. Corn declined fractionally, and cotton ranged 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 cents a bale.

Foreign trade figures for January made an unfavorable comparison with the same month last year. Merchandise exports dropped $7,636,000, while imports declined $26,636,000. Otherwise, there was little in the day's business news to influence the price movement.

tables and market news,

PAULINA LONGWORTH VISITS HOUSE ON FIFTH BIRTHDAY

Members Stand and Applaud Speaker's Daughter, Who Waves
Hand From Gallery.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Miss Paulina Longworth, daughter of Speaker and Mrs. Alcee Roosevelt Longworth, today celebrated her fifth birthday anniversary by attending for the first time a session of the House, where her father presides.

Representative Tilson of Connecticut, Republican floor leader, called attention of the House to Miss Paulina, who sat in the very front row of the Speaker's gallery with two attaches of her father's office and her maid. When Tilson announced that the young woman
was celebrating her fifth birthday anniversary members of the House arose and loudly applauded the little girl, who waved her hand.

She seemed particularly interested in the father, watching his every movement and listening intently to his every word, and sat still until the House went into a committee of the whole. After her disappearance the gavel to another member, Paulina demanded that her party move on to her father's office.

FORD AND PARTY RIDE MERRY GO-ROUND AT FAIR

"Let's Be Boys and Girls Again
Tonight," He Says; Mrs. Edison Treats Guests.

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 14.—
Henry Ford took a party of 40
friends to the Lee County Fair last night and entertained them on a merry-go-round.

He arranged the party after being told of the "great fun" his cronies, the Edisons and the Firestones, had at the fair the night before. Mrs. Edison was one of his guests, but Edison remained at home.

Ford was reluctant to join his guests on the merry-go-round, but at Mrs. Edison's suggestion he mounted a wooden pony and rode with the party. He remarked with a smile, "Well, let's all be boys and girls again tonight."

While the ride was on, Ford gave his attention to the machinery and to the automatic music box. Of all the side shows which the Ford party visited, and they took in many—a group of wax figures interested Ford most.

TONNAGE CLAIMS START CONFLICT AT NAVAL PARLEY

U. S.—Japanese Cruiser Dispute and Anglo-French Controversy on Subma-

FRANCE SUGGESTS A "MORAL PACT"

MacDonald, Stimson and Others Confer With Tar-dieu in Effort to Get Him to Lower Demands.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—With the publication of statements of naval requirements by the French and Japanese, the London conference is now down to bedrock.

It is clear from the figures that,
in addition to the Franco-Italian dispute, the conference must address itself to a settlement of two crucial differences—that between the United States and Japan, with respect to the latter's cruiser strength, and that between France and Great Britain. Concern of America with the Franco-British difference is indirect but none the less vital, for on the manner of its adjustment depends the basis of agreed upon parity between America and Britain.

The French total requirements
were placed, as predicted, at approximately 735,000 tons, which is about 60 per cent of the strength envisaged for the United States and Britain. The total figure is somewhat less formidable than it appears, since it includes a considerable proportion of obsolete tonnage.
If the total were figured according to the method used by Britain and America, in computing naval strength, it would stand at about 640,000. It is also to be noted that the figure may represent a maximum demand for bargaining purposes.

Submarine Crux of Difficulty.
The crux of the Franco-British difficulty is the submarine. France today, with more than 90,000 tons of submarines built, building and on order, is in a position to outstrip Britain in this class of naval armament. The British naval opinion is strongly averse to reductions in craft designed to meet a possible submarine "menace" from across the Channel. The Times, in an editorial today, declared that the French proposals, declares that the measure of Britain's real need is not the strength of the United States but that of the other Powers.

It is clear, says the editorial,
"that no final decision as to required strength of the British fleet,
and especially its strength in cruiz-ers, could be at all satisfactory that brought the executive branch of the Government to a parity with the judicial representatives."

SHIP GOING AFTER BYRD MAKES ONLY 25 MILES IN DAY

Practically at Standstill in Gale, With Engines at Full Speed.

By RUSSELL OWEN
(Copyright, 1930, by the New York Times and St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica,
Feb. 13.—The bark City of New York is making almost no headway against the constant gales now blowing in the Ross Sea.

In the last 24 hours Capt. Frederick Melville estimates his progress at about 25 miles. In his latest message to Admiral Byrd,
just received, he says:
"Ship laboring heavily in seaway.
Practically holed with engines at
full speed."

Capt. Melville's dead reckoning would put the City of New York
about 250 miles from Little America, but there is no telling how long
it will take to cover that distance.
His runs have been shorter each day.

There is no indication of any change either, as it is during this period that the cooling barrier causes almost continuous disturbances at sea.

Any way one looks at the situation, the City of New York seems to be in for a rough time as its arrival depends on the whim of the Antarctic winds. In the meantime, everyone here is just waiting and trying to forget the weather.

FOG DELAYS LONDON WORKERS
American Steamer Hits Lightship
In Channel.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—London
went to work by lamplight this morning, a thick fog enveloping
the city and a large area of the country. The fog belt extended from Tyneworth to Ross and down to Calshot.

Crowds of early workers in London were delayed because of the poor visibility. Shipping in the affected coastal areas was badly hampered and the Thames estuary completely blocked for hours. In the darkness over the channel the American steamer West Ragin came in contact with the South Goodwin lightship, damaging the lightship somewhat but escaping damage itself. The fog grew thicker than ever over some sections of London later in the day.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb.
14.—Attending a motion picture show yesterday for the first time in years John D. Rockefeller Sr. saw himself as others saw him on the screen at a theater here.

Two scenes of the 91-year-old millionaire at Morgan Beach, one in his home and the other on the golf course, were shown, and he expressed delight at seeing and hearing himself on the screen. Mr.
Rockefeller remained in the theater for the feature picture.

COOLIDGE LOSES NIGHT SHIRT
Garment Mislaid in Packing; He Can't Sleep in Panama.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14.—
Somebody made a mistake in packing former President Calvin Coolidge's baggage in Florida. His night clothes were left out.

After spending a restless night
trying to sleep in pajamas in a New Orleans hotel, the former President called a bell boy and sent him out shopping. The boy returned with a bundle. Mr. Coolidge opened it and proudly took out an old-fashioned nightshirt.

EIGHT-DAY LIMIT PLACED ON HOUSE DRY LAW HEARING

Judiciary Committee Makes Decision After Devoting
Two Days to Anti-Prohibition Witnesses.

RECESS IS TAKEN
UNTIL NEXT WEEK

Then Pierre S. du Pont Will Be Heard—Michigan Official Denies Charges of Author Liggett.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The House Judiciary Committee has decided to confine its investigation of prohibition to eight days, with brief periods of rebuttal to follow. Vigorous objection is expected from opponents of the dry laws who had anticipated a broad, general inquiry occupying many weeks.

The committee was in recess today after devoting two days to witnesses urging repeal of the anti-liquor laws and meeting in executive session to decide on a course of procedure.

The wets will have two more days next week, after which the drys will have their say. It is planned to hold hearings on Wednesdays and Thursdays of each week until the specified time has been given to the inquiry.

Wets Yet to Be Heard.
When hearings are resumed next Wednesday, the wets plan to present Pierre S. du Pont, of the E. I. du Pont & Nemours Co., Samuel H. Church, president of Carnegie Institute and Robert H. Cassatt, son of the former president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, as principal witnesses.

The committee heard John H. Miner, secretary of the Michigan Prison Commission, deny the charges made before it by Walter Liggett, magazine writer, against Gov. Green and other Michigan officials. Representative Clancy (Rep.), Michigan, also took issue with Liggett's charges.

Attacking conditions under prohibition, Miner said that as a result of the dry law taxpayers of the State of Michigan would have to pay $40,000,000 for new penal institutions.

Miner said that since 1907 the Michigan prison population had increased from less than 4 per cent to more than 20 per cent. In 1910, he said, there were 736 prison inmates in Michigan. In 1917, there were 879; in 1925, 1,113; in 1929, 1,850, and on Jan. 1, 1930, a total of 4,411. "Prohibition is the legitimate parent of and the direct and indirect cause of the greatest crime wave ever known in the history of our country or in any other country," Miner said. "National prohibition has brought about in this country a reign of official corruption never before known in the nation's history."

Former Dry Worker.
After describing himself as a former worker for the Anti-Saloon League, Norris J. Wood, Washington, of the Congressional District Modification League, said the eighteenth amendment had created through the country "a condition far worse than that which the prohibitionists sought to remedy."

He charged that the Anti-Saloon League, the Methodist Board of Temperance, prohibition and public morals and the Women's Christian Temperance Union and 30 allied dry organizations of nation-wide scope would not admit they made a mistake on prohibition because of "pride of opinion." A witness added that every time a law was created further to enforce prohibition, more crime and law violation resulted. Wood said he left the Anti-Saloon League because it had strayed from its original purpose of closing the saloons.

Speaks of Dry "Hypocrisy."
Under questioning by Representative Michener (Rep.), Michigan, Wood assailed the Anti-Saloon League for "hypocrisy." He said in response to questions that he left the ministry and joined the Anti-Saloon League "for the same reason that a lot of other ministers go into the league—ministers can get more money there than in the church."

Thomas W. Therkildsen, executive secretary of the Moderation League, appeared as the last witness before the committee.

He presented figures on the prohibition referendum held by 11 states during the past four years in which eight voted wet while three, Colorado, California and Missouri, acted to sustain the eighteenth amendment.

The House Judiciary Committee was advised today that Gov. Fred W. Green of Michigan would arrive here tomorrow from Boston to file a written statement with the committee in answer to charges made by Walter L. Liggett.

A reply to charge of the wets was given last night by Representative Williamson (Rep.), South Dakota, in a radio speech together with a prediction that "if the doctrine of nullification of the eighteenth amendment were persisted in it would again lead to open conflict."

Without calling names, Williamson referred to a suggestion by

WALTER L. LIGGETT.

Representative Beck (Rep.), Pennsylvania, several days ago that no obligation rested upon Congress to pass a law to carry out the provision of the eighteenth amendment.

"Members of Congress have taken a solemn oath to support the Constitution of the United States," he said. "A refusal to carry out the eighteenth amendment would at once brand them as faithless, if not lawless. Such conduct would justify subject them to the contempt and condemnation of all mankind."

Representative Lambertson (Rep.), Kansas, announced today that Attorney-General Smith of Kansas would be given an opportunity next Wednesday to cross-examine Liggett, who told the House Judiciary Committee he could get liquor in any Kansas town 15 minutes after his arrival.

Arrangement had been made with Chairman Graham of the committee, Lambertson said, to permit the Kansas official to question the magazine writer. It was indicated such an interrogation could be made only if Liggett agreed to it. While before the committee he said he was prepared to prove his statements.

DUTY ON SLATE INCREASED BY SENATE FROM 15 TO 25 PCT.

Accepted on Return to Consideration of Senate Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Returning to consideration of the tariff bill after three days of debate over the confirmation of Charles Evans Hughes and the Supreme Court, the Senate today accepted an amendment by Senator Dale (Rep.), Vermont, to increase the duty on slate from 15 to 25 per cent.

Approval also was given an amendment by Senator Copeland (Dem.), New York, to reduce the present tariff on machine-made glass bottles and jars from 55 to 40 per cent. The House bill provided 70 per cent and the Senate previously had approved a 65 per cent duty.

A third amendment approved would provide a duty of $5.60 a ton on fluorapatite, used in the manufacture of steel, china and glassware if containing above 93 per cent calcium chloride. If containing not more than 93 per cent calcium chloride under the action, the fluorapatite rate would be $8.40 a ton.

Senator Walsh (Dem.), Massachusetts, was successful in sponsoring a substitute for the paragraphs dealing with artists' and children's paintings, which would provide an increase to 3½ cents an ounce in the duty on these paintings in bulk exceeding one and one-half pounds net weight each.

U. S. WON'T RETURN WHISKY

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 14.—Barney Goodman, Kansas City real estate man, and the sole person arrested New Year's eve by a group of Federal dry agents, today failed in an effort to recover four quarts of whisky on the ground it was of pre-war origin and legally acquired.

Judge Reeves, in Federal Court, dismissed a petition in equity, acting on a Government motion. The Court ruled that the return of property, illegally seized, was a matter of law and not of equity. Actual merits of the case never were argued. As a result the United States Attorney's office indicated the four bottles of liquor probably would be placed before a grand jury Monday.

Goodman was arrested as he entered the lobby of the Kansas City Athletic Club. He was charged with possession and transportation of liquor. The petition in equity sought return of the liquor on the ground it was possessed legally and that Goodman had a full right to have it in a private club.

$2,500,000 AIR EXPOSITION TO OPEN TOMORROW

Among 87 Planes of 43
Makes Will Be Flying Yachts, Ships With Kitchen-
ettes and Sleepers.

When the doors of The Arena, 5700 Oakland avenue, are opened tomorrow night, St. Louisans will be admitted to their first national aircraft exposition, embodying all the latest developments in commercial aviation. Sponsored by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America, representing about 90 per cent of the industry, the display will continue through Feb. 23.

The arena and its two adjoining wings will contain 170 exhibits valued at $2,500,000, including 87 planes of 43 different makes, 75 engines representing 16 manufacturers and accessories. Plans of varying size, price and intention, ranging from 18-passenger transports with three engines, costing in excess of $50,000 each, to inexpensive two-seaters and speedy mail types with a single engine will be on display.

Standard models, engines and associated exhibits will be shown in the wing building, with the "special jobs" taking a more prominent position in The Arena oval. Those ships designed for regular transportation service, the wealthy enthusiast and the business executive, have all the refinements found in the modern club car or Pullman.

There will be planes with artistically decorated cabins equipped with upholstered lounge chairs, radio, sleeping berths, tables, heating apparatus, electric lights, refrigerators, and with walls and floors padded against engine noises. The Condor, Pacific and Ford transports, and the Ryan, Robin, Stinson, Lockheed-Vega, Travel-Air and the various "air yachts" for the private owner are in the deluxe group.

Only One Military Type.
The show is strictly commercial, only one military type, the Curtiss Hawk, being displayed, and the exhibits will be arranged to attract the average observer. Experts, however, will note many refinements in design in both ships and engines. Manufacturers of engines are steadily increasing the efficiency of their product, and planes being made larger and safer through streamlining, the use of tubular steel fuselage construction and accurate controls and navigation instruments.

"The largest exhibit ever shown at an aircraft exposition has been at the Curtiss-Wright or Wright organization, which controls the output and distribution of nearly a dozen factories. A feature of this exhibit is a miniature lagoon in which a Keystone "air mail" boat, with six passengers will float. The huge Condor, a biplane resembling a whale, and the Patriotic monoplane with a 90-foot wing are included in the Curtiss-Wright group. Robins, Moths, the Tanager, winner of the $100,000 safety prize, and the Travel-Air "Mystery S," capable of a speed of 200 miles an hour, will be grouped beneath the Lockheed Sirius, a 200-mile-an-hour monoplane; the Eastman flying boat and the new Ryan "Foursome," a de luxe model for the private owner.

Other well-known planes will be represented. The Bellanca exhibit will include the "Columbia," in which Clarence Chamberlain and Charles Levine made their transatlantic flight, while the Buell exhibit will have the "Sun God," which Nick Mamer and a companion made a round trip refueling flight across the continent last summer.

Gliders to Be Shown.
The engine display will include various models of Wright engines, popularized by long-distance flyers, and the Curtiss Challenger, of the type used in the world's record endurance flight of the St. Louis Robin.

Gliders also will be shown, while the necessary exhibits will include plane appliances, flying tools, airport and lighting equipment and associated products.

The show will bring hundreds of experts and others connected with the industry to St. Louis, and more than 20 groups within the Aeronautical Chamber will hold technical and business conferences. The first national conference on aeronautical education will be held with speakers from various sections of the country on the program. The Society of Automotive Engineers will be in session at Hotel Statler, Feb. 17 to 19, with Herbert Hoover Jr., son of the President, as a speaker.

Hoover is a radio expert for Western Air Express. All other meetings, including a "Famous Flyers" luncheon on Monday, will be at the Statler. Special headquarters for the exposition.

FORD SETS ASIDE $100,000,000 FOR TRADE SCHOOLS

Decides to Devote Much of Time to Helping Young Men Find Their Places in Society.

By the Associated Press.
FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 14.—Henry Ford has announced his intention of devoting $100,000,000 of his fortune to the founding of trade schools. He said he had not yet decided on the number or location of the schools, but that some of them would be large institutions and that they would be situated in various parts of the country.

He said society owed young people the opportunity to be educated for useful citizenship and he intended to devote much time, money and energy to the establishment of trade schools and colleges. Having a definite plan, he said, he intended to invest his money in his own way and did not want suggestions from persons who never had shouldered a dollar on how he should spend it.

Ford attributed much of the crime to failure of schools to teach young men how to fit into the world. Racketeering he described as a revolt against educational methods which he said were improper and ineffective.

He expressed the opinion that everyone should learn a trade and become sufficiently skilled in some line of work so that he could obtain employment. The schools which he plans, Ford said, would be self-supporting. Academic subjects would be taught in the lower grades and vocational subjects made available to students as soon as they were prepared for them. The arts and commercial courses would be offered as well as mechanical training, he said.

common people get absolute justice."

Norris asserted there had not been any criticism of the Supreme Court for several years because it had "been set up on a pedestal and once made in members of the Supreme Court."

"A man was subject to condemnation if he criticized something done by human beings," he said, adding that the only difference made in member of the Supreme Court when they took office was that they "sat on a bench and had a black gown over their persons."

Norris said no one had tried to make a personal attack on the Supreme Court on the confirmation of Hughes. "We have tried to make it plain," he asserted, "that the power of the Supreme Court had been gradually growing and that, like human beings, they have been reaching out for more and more power until it has become common knowledge that they perform legislative duties." "They have practically said," he shouted, "that they will set aside the limits of judicial interpretation."

Attacks Prescribing Rates.
Norris said Hughes was nominated because his views are "in harmony with those of the Chief Magistrate."

Attacking decisions of the Supreme Court prescribing rates of return which could be made by public utility companies, Norris asserted that no power was given to the Court to determine how much these companies could make. "They have practically said," he shouted, "that they will set aside the limits of judicial interpretation."

Norris took exception to Vandenberg's remark that Dill's discussion was a "post mortem."

"We are dealing with a live problem that's part of our livelihood, that's part of our existence," said the Nebraskaan.

If supreme court decisions on valuations were allowed to stand, he added, the power of State commissions to determine rates would be taken away.

Vandenberg asked Norris if he thought Associate Justice Stone was "liberal minded."

"I think he is but I don't want to discuss individuals," Norris re-

is still maintaining a demand for a 70 per cent ratio to the United States in global tonnage of auxiliary categories and specifically in regard to 8-inch gun cruisers, to which it attaches "special importance."

Japan has presented to Senator Reed two alternative proposals as to 8-inch gun cruisers. The first of these has proved unacceptable because it is predicated on 15 ships for the United States, whereas our tentative agreement with Great Britain calls for 18. The second proposal contemplates 18 American ships, with 150,000 tons, in which case Japan asks for 125,000 tons, or exactly 70 per cent of American strength. The United States thus far has declined to grant this ratio. The difference between today and one of the most troublesome remaining to be settled by the conference.

Experts Adopt Plan on Exempt and Special Classes of Ships.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 14.—The subcommittee of experts, meeting at St. James' Palace today, adopted a plan on exempt and special classes of ships, and agreed to that provisionally agreed to at Geneva in 1927.

The exemption class provides for such vessels as hospital ships, colliers, supply ships, tenders and carrying sufficient weapons to be considered combatant, and such vessels as are regular Coast Guard vessels not sufficiently armed for heavy war service.

The committee did not agree to the American suggestion that the speed of exempt classes be reduced below the proposed 15 knots and tonnage increased above the proposed maximum of 2000 tons.

The United States and Great Britain got together this morning to try to persuade France to lower its claim for 754,000 tons of naval craft, a figure which would involve building 240,000 tons in the next five years.

Premier MacDonald, Secretary of State, and Ambassador Morin, and Senator Robins, conferred with Premier Tardieu of France, Foreign Minister Briand and Delegate Marinier at the House of Commons.

Later Tardieu went back to Paris with Briand, facing debates in the Chamber of Deputies but expressing satisfaction that the London conference is now face-to-face with realities after a week of real progress.

France's figures brought an unfavorable reaction from every other delegation. Indeed, the total tonnage of the fleet, as proposed by them in reaching a solution to this vital problem. It was understood from well informed sources that France was asked to reduce its total to about 550,000 tons.

Since Italy demands parity with France, there seemed nothing for Dino Grandi, Italian Foreign Minister, to do but to ask for a like tonnage.

France to Be Questioned.
It is understood the campaign to persuade France to reconsider its demands will be conducted on a basis similar to that employed by Chief Justices of the United States that set aside the power of Congress to enact laws unless they met the approval of the Supreme Court.

"I think the action of Congress in passing legislation and that of the President signing the bill ought to be final," he said. "Congress is just as honest as the Supreme Court."

NEW HORMONES FOUND AID WOMEN'S HEALTH

McGill University Announces
Discovery of Crystalline Product From Internal Glands.

By the Associated Press.
MONTREAL, Feb. 14.—Discovery of another of the powerful hormones which regulate human health was announced officially today by McGill University.

So important was it considered that Sir Arthur Currier, head of the university, said: "It is a remarkable discovery and should bring relief and comfort to countless thousands of women throughout the world."

The new substance has not been named. It is a crystalline product derived from internal glands. The announcement said its effects were somewhat similar to those of the pituitary glands, which have widely recognized functions in control of gigantism in growth, and in water control including forms of fatness. The newly found hormone, however, is useful in feminine health.

The announcement says it influences "in a very remarkable manner the general health and metabolism of women. Metabolism is the process whereby the body changes food into energy by burning up and tearing down living protoplasm. Dean Charles F. Martin of the medical faculty, says the discovery is credited to Dr. James Bertram Collip, a man under 40, who was associated with Dr. P. C. Banting in the discovery of insulin. Collip is chairman of the department of biochemistry.

Professor Collip was graduated from Toronto University in 1910 and is a fellow of the Royal Society of Canada. After the distinction obtained in his work with banting on insulin he made a name for himself in the study of the endocrine system in general, which embraced the working of the ductless internal glands.

Mexican Students Reported Slain.
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14.—A dispatch to the newspaper Universal Grafico says that four students of the University of Mexico were reported killed and seven wounded when they entered a hacienda in the State of Queretaro on a field trip and survey. It was said the peasants and Agrarians, mistaking the mission of the students for a religious mission, opened fire on the party.

Arguments March 24.
Circuit Judge Percy, before whom the case has been on trial for 19 days, will hear arguments March 24, and later will decide whether to grant the heirs' request, or whether to grant broader powers in the administration of the fund for charitable purposes, as asked by the city.

To show Mullanphy's charitable disposition, the city presented an article on his life, written by the late Michael J. Murphy, a former city street commissioner, who was active in Catholic charity work. "Some said," Murphy wrote, "that Judge Mullanphy's eccentricity seriously marred his usefulness. It is pity that the Alameda might not have been so eccentric, for it would have been a help to more persons." And he proceeded to tell of Mullanphy's helpful acts.

Practical Charity.
"When it became known that Judge Mullanphy had bought 200 razors at a hardware store," Murphy related, "people said he must be crazy. But later it was found that he had given the razors to emigrants."

"Judge Mullanphy once saw a poor woman on Main street, leading a cow and weeping. He spoke to her, and learned that she was trying to sell the cow, but could not find a purchaser, and was destitute. He said he would buy the cow, but did not just then have a stable, and he suggested that the woman should keep the cow for him until he could build a stable. So he paid her the purchase price, and she took the cow back home. He kept it, and Judge Mullanphy paid her for it."

"Tell the one about Judge Mullanphy riding a cow through the streets," former Judge Henry S. Pries of counsel for the heirs suggested. But this incident was not mentioned in Murphy's manuscript.

Andover Theological Seminary.
Watching Mullanphy suit, says to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 14.—The Mullanphy emigrant fund suit, pending in St. Louis, is being watched by counsel for Andover Theological Seminary. They have no direct interest in what becomes of the Mullanphy fund, but they are deeply interested in any modification, by court decree, of the terms of bequests and foundations established in bygone times.

Andover Seminary, historic training school for Congregational ministers, founded in 1828, has been closed since 1925 because its resources could not comply with the requirements of its foundation. The foundation is governed by statutes which require the "Andover Creed" to be accepted by all professors and visiting lecturers. The creed became unacceptable to the seminary faculty and trustees and was finally dissolved when the institution from the Harvard University.

The trustees' action was assailed on legal grounds. The Massachusetts Supreme Court in 1925 decided that the affiliation with Harvard was contrary to the governing statutes of the seminary and that the creed must be applied in its original meaning. This decision caused the closing of the seminary.

Plans are being considered for reopening the seminary in connection with the Baptist Theological Institution at Boston, a suburb of

HOW MULLANPHY PROVIDED SHAVES FOR 300 TRAVELERS

Distribution of Razors to Emigrants Cited by City
as Example of Practical Charity.

HEARINGS ON HEIRS'
SUITS ARE CONCLUDED

Arguments in Action to Distribute Fund Will Be Heard March 24 by Judge Percy.

How Bryan Mullanphy once bought 300 razors, and distributed them among emigrants who appeared to him to need such instruments, was told in yesterday's final hearing of evidence, in the suit of 18 collateral heirs to set aside the $100,000 Mullanphy Emigrant Fund trust.

The case episode was cited by the city, as showing the philanthropic and practical character of the former Mayor and Judge, who on his death in 1853 left one-third of his estate as a fund for the relief of emigrants and travelers passing through St. Louis on their way to seek homes in the West.

The city's counsel has tried to show that Mullanphy was interested not only in emigrants, but in needy and destitute persons generally. From this, it seeks to infer that Mullanphy would have used his fund to be preserved and used for more general charity purposes, when the home-seeking emigrants should no longer need it. The collateral heirs, on the other hand, have tried to show that the fund's original purpose has been served, and that the property should now be divided among 50 or more descendants of the eccentric bachelor's five sisters.

Arguments March 24.
Circuit Judge Percy, before whom the case has been on trial for 19 days, will hear arguments March 24, and later will decide whether to grant the heirs' request, or whether to grant broader powers in the administration of the fund for charitable purposes, as asked by the city.

To show Mullanphy's charitable disposition, the city presented an article on his life, written by the late Michael J. Murphy, a former city street commissioner, who was active in Catholic charity work. "Some said," Murphy wrote, "that Judge Mullanphy's eccentricity seriously marred his usefulness. It is pity that the Alameda might not have been so eccentric, for it would have been a help to more persons." And he proceeded to tell of Mullanphy's helpful acts.

Practical Charity.
"When it became known that Judge Mullanphy had bought 200 razors at a hardware store," Murphy related, "people said he must be crazy. But later it was found that he had given the razors to emigrants."

"Judge Mullanphy once saw a poor woman on Main street, leading a cow and weeping. He spoke to her, and learned that she was trying to sell the cow, but could not find a purchaser, and was destitute. He said he would buy the cow, but did not just then have a stable, and he suggested that the woman should keep the cow for him until he could build a stable. So he paid her the purchase price, and she took the cow back home. He kept it, and Judge Mullanphy paid her for it."

"Tell the one about Judge Mullanphy riding a cow through the streets," former Judge Henry S. Pries of counsel for the heirs suggested. But this incident was not mentioned in Murphy's manuscript.

Andover Theological Seminary.
Watching Mullanphy suit, says to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 14.—The Mullanphy emigrant fund suit, pending in St. Louis, is being watched by counsel for Andover Theological Seminary. They have no direct interest in what becomes of the Mullanphy fund, but they are deeply interested in any modification, by court decree, of the terms of bequests and foundations established in bygone times.

Andover Seminary, historic training school for Congregational ministers, founded in 1828, has been closed since 1925 because its resources could not comply with the requirements of its foundation. The foundation is governed by statutes which require the "Andover Creed" to be accepted by all professors and visiting lecturers. The creed became unacceptable to the seminary faculty and trustees and was finally dissolved when the institution from the Harvard University.

The trustees' action was assailed on legal grounds. The Massachusetts Supreme Court in 1925 decided that the affiliation with Harvard was contrary to the governing statutes of the seminary and that the creed must be applied in its original meaning. This decision caused the closing of the seminary.

Plans are being considered for reopening the seminary in connection with the Baptist Theological Institution at Boston, a suburb of

NEW HORMONES FOUND AID WOMEN'S HEALTH

McGill University Announces Discovery of Crystalline Product From Internal Glands.

By the Associated Press. MONTREAL, Feb. 14.—Discovery of another of the powerful hormones which regulate human health was announced officially today by McGill University.

So important was it considered that Sir Arthur Currie head of the university, said: "It is a remarkable discovery and should bring relief and comfort to countless thousands of women throughout the world."

The new substance has not been named. It is a crystalline product, derived from internal glands. The announcement said its effects were somewhat similar to those of one of the pituitary glands, which have widely recognized functions in control of gigantism in growth, of some phases of women's health, and in water control including forms of fatness. The newly found hormone, however, is useful for feminine health.

The announcement says it indicates "in a very remarkable manner the general health and metabolism" of women. Metabolism is the process whereby the body changes food into energy by building up and tearing down living protoplasm. Dean Charles P. Martin of the medical faculty, says the discovery is credited to Dr. James Bertram Collip, a man under 40, who was associated with Dr. C. Banting in the discovery of insulin. Collip is chairman of the department of biochemistry.

Professor Collip was graduated from Toronto University in 1911 and is a fellow of the Royal Society of Canada. After the distinction obtained in his work with banting on insulin he made a name as an authority on the biology of the endocrine system in general, which embraced the working of the ductless internal glands.

Mexican Students Reported Slain. MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14.—A dispatch to the newspaper Universal Grafico says that four students of the University of Mexico were reported killed and seven wounded when they entered a hacienda in the State of Queretaro on a field trip and survey. It was said that the peasants and Agrarians, mistaking the mission of the student body for a religious mission, opened fire on the party.

HOW MULLANPHY PROVIDED SHAVES FOR 300 TRAVELERS

Distribution of Razors to Emigrants Cited by City as Example of Practical Charity.

HEARINGS ON HEIRS' SUIT ARE CONCLUDED

Arguments in Action to Distribute Fund Will Be Heard March 24 by Judge Percy.

How Bryan Mullanphy once bought 300 razors, and distributed them among emigrants who appeared to him to need such instruments, was told in yesterday's final hearing of evidence, at the St. Louis federal court to settle the $1,000,000 Mullanphy Emigrant Fund trust.

The razor episode was cited by the city, as showing the philanthropic and practical character of the former Mayor and Judge, who in his death in 1853 left one-third of his estate as a fund for the relief of emigrants and travelers passing through St. Louis on their way to seek homes in the West.

The city's counsel has tried to show that Mullanphy was interested not only in emigrants, but in needy and destitute persons generally. From this, it seeks to infer that Mullanphy would have devoted his fund to be preserved and used for more general charity purposes, when the home-seeking emigrants should no longer need it.

The collateral heirs, on the other hand, have tried to show that the fund's original purpose has been served, and that the property should now be divided among 50 or more descendants of the eccentric bachelor's five sisters.

JUDGE REBUKES BOOTLEGGER

For Selling Poor Whisky. Faris Says John Hearn Is Better Off in Prison and Gives Him Year.

John Hearn, 3424 Morgan street (reary), who sold a half-pint of whisky to prohibition agents for 25 cents, was sentenced to a year and a day in Leavenworth penitentiary when he pleaded guilty under a Jones law indictment before Federal Judge Faris today.

The court is almost compelled to take judicial notice of the market price of good whisky in considering your case," Judge Faris told Hearn. "The public is better off with you in the penitentiary if for not other reason, than the quality of your goods. Your whisky might kill someone if you were permitted to remain at large."

Hearn was one of 112 persons indicted Wednesday under the Jones law. Others indicted by the same grand jury on various counts who pleaded guilty today were: Emil Klosternat, Joseph Renard and John H. Dore, accused of selling narcotics; Klosternat and Renard, former convicts, received sentences of five and three years, respectively, and Renard, who has served a previous term for narcotics sales, was sentenced to three years.

Warning by Starkloff. Health Commissioner Starkloff, in a recent public warning of the epidemic, advised persons suffering from sore throat to seek immediate medical attention. Strep-tococcus throat infection, he said, is hard to diagnose immediately, as it presents the same superficial aspect as milder complaints. Home remedies, he went on, are inadequate, and the physician should determine whether culture of the infected area should be made, this being the only positive means of streptococcus diagnosis.

The Health Department will make cultures free of charge on request. Dr. Starkloff said the ailment was particularly menacing to children, and that its chief danger was in the weakening effect on the entire system, inducing greater susceptibility to pneumonia and other dangerous diseases.

August Busch, head of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., and eight members of his family and five servants were suffering from streptococcus infection of the throat or kindred ailments in the last few weeks. Besides Busch, the sufferers were his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Louis Hager Jr., of Denby road, Huntleigh, and Mrs. Drummond Jones.

$5000 JEWELRY HOLDUP IN STORE AT 5992 EASTON

Armed Robbers Lock Two Employes and Customer in Rear Room in Shop of Hubbell Company.

Rings and watches valued at $5000 were stolen by two robbers who held up two employes and a customer at the Hubbell Jewelry and Optical Co., 5992 Easton avenue, at 8 a. m. today.

William Koehler, the watchmaker, was kneeling before the safe when he heard footsteps behind him. He turned and said, "Good morning," to a masked man with a pistol. "All right, all right," said the man, "get in there and pointing to a lavatory. A second robber entered and compelled Dr. A. P. Poe, optician, to join Koehler.

For 10 or 15 minutes one of the robbers examined the jewelry trays in the safe, taking diamond rings and watches which drew his fancy, while his accomplice guarded the prisoners. A customer rattled at the door until the robbers let him in. He also was put into the lavatory.

Warning the prisoners to keep quiet, the robbers left by a side door just as R. Kiehl Hubbell, the proprietor, entered the front door. Hubbell said the loss was insured. The robbers missed $500 in cash that was in the safe.

BILL TO PROHIBIT SALE OF FIREWORKS IS KILLED

Aldermen to Draft Measure Which Will Not Jeopardize Business of Local Dealers.

A bill to prohibit sale and exhibition of fireworks in the city, except for specially authorized displays, and another for drastic regulation of the storage and sale of fireworks were killed by the Public Safety Committee of the Board of Aldermen yesterday. It was decided, however, to draft a new bill to regulate storage and sale as a matter of safety without jeopardizing the business of local merchants.

Walderman Neu opposed the fireworks prohibition bill, which had been introduced by Alderman Riefing, on the ground that too many things were being prohibited now. All the committee members with the exception of Alderman Eilers opposed the measure because they thought it would abolish celebration of the Fourth of July in St. Louis. Eilers moved for preparation of the proposed new regulatory ordinance.

The other bill which was killed, introduced by Alderman Waldman, would have prohibited storage and sale of fireworks in any place where cigars, matches or any inflammable materials or fluids were kept for sale. The committee objected to this because it would stop the fireworks business of druggists, tobacconists and confectioners but give outsiders a chance to do business here for a brief period and then take their profits away.

Members of the committee expressed the belief that the prohibition bill, if passed, would have induced St. Louisans to bootleg fireworks from East St. Louis and St. Louis County.

waged behind closed doors. The adoption of open executive sessions last year, resulting from the action of a newspaper correspondent in publishing two secret roll calls, was responsible for the spectacular and dramatic character of the conflict over Hughes.

Supreme Court Policies Attacked. What was said behind the Senate's heavy oak doors in those old days was never fully disclosed. Certainly the debate of the last four days developed into the most formidable assault upon the majority policies and decisions of the Supreme Court that has been witnessed during this generation. The appointment of Hughes precipitated it, but the gravity and significance of the event was in the fact that Hughes was opposed because his legal and economic views were identified with those expressed in certain majority opinions rendered by the Court itself in recent years.

At no time was the opposition more bitter than when discussing the rules of valuation laid down by the majority of the court in public utility cases.

Influence of Court Cited. When Hughes' supporters protested that the Senate should not examine his qualifications for the bench, they were met with the reply that the economic views of the nine men comprising the Supreme Court had exercised a profound influence on the daily lives of the American people in recent years than all the laws passed by Congress and signed by the President.

"Defender of Property Rights." Over and over, Senators recited Hughes' record in the last few years as a corporation lawyer, reading from his briefs, and quoting his arguments. He was described as "the country's foremost defender of property rights," as "the perfect embodiment of the power of organized wealth," as "the greatest living representative of the vested interests."

Attacked as Cabinet Member. A new note was injected into the opposition late yesterday by Senator Walsh of Montana, prosecutor of the oil investigations. Alluding to the fact that Hughes entered the Cabinet of President Harding along with Albert B. Fall and Harry Daugherty, and remained in it as Secretary of State long after both of them were gone, Walsh said:

"I have never been able to understand how Mr. Hughes, brilliant and astute lawyer that he is, could sit in the Cabinet when Fall was reasonably and corruptly engaged in giving away the oil of the public domain, when Daugherty was engaged on an orgy of corruption in the Department of Justice, when Forbes was pillaging the funds of the disabled veterans, and Miller was plundering the alien property entrusted to his care, and remain wholly oblivious to the riot of corruption around him."

"I have never been able to understand how, when the sordid story was at last unfolded, not one word of condemnation was uttered by Mr. Hughes, nor one effort made by him to develop a public sentiment that would bring the criminals to justice."

Hawes' Criticism of Hughes. Senator Hawes of Missouri declared that his opposition to Hughes rested not so much on the character of Hughes' legal practice as to his lifelong partisan political activity. He said Hughes and Senator Borah did more to elect President Hoover than any 10 other men in the Republican party. And that the practical leaders always knew that they could count on Hughes when the fight was hottest.

"It seems to me that the Chief Justice of the United States should be characterized by a judicial mind, rather than a partisan mind," he said.

Other Senators emphasized that Hughes, at the age of 67 years, is the oldest man ever appointed to the Supreme Court, and marveled that President Hoover should have found it necessary to summon him at such an age, to the arduous duties of the Chief Justiceship.

ROBBER KILLS TWO GUARDS AND SELF IN DETROIT HOLDUP

Three Other Men in Gang Flee With $250 After Raid on Western Union Telegraph Office.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 14. — Three men, two of them special guards and the third a member of a four-man holdup gang, lost their lives last night in a fight during a holdup of the main office of the Western Union Telegraph Co. at Congress and Shelby streets. A patrolman who sought to halt the fleeing men was wounded twice. The three robbers escaped with about $500. Police say they are the ones who held up the office 10 days ago.

The dead are Jess L. Catlin, 35 years old, an operative of the American Mill Alarm Co.; John E. Scott, 44, another operative of the company, and the unidentified robber who, police say, took his own life with the revolver he had used to shoot Scott and Catlin a moment before. The wounded patrolman is Joseph H. Ralls, 26, of Central Station.

Scott, Catlin and Arthur Neron, another special guard, answered a call to the Western Union office after Ash Blues, a money clerk, touched an alarm button. Neron fired at the robber rifling the cash drawer. Scott and Catlin were shot by a robber guarding one of the doors to the office. The robber, wounded in the chest, in turn took his own life.

Ralls was wounded when he fired at the others of the gang as they fled after commandeering an automobile. Although all other marks of identification had been removed from the clothing of the slain robber, his overcoat bore the mark of a Chicago tailor.

MEN BLAME EACH OTHER FOR KILLING BOY, MISSING YEAR

Pair Held at Worster, O., in Connection With Disappearance of Melvin Horst, 4, Dec. 27, 1928.

By the Associated Press.

WOOSTER, O., Feb. 14.—Assistant Prosecutor Walter J. Mougey announced today that both Earl Conald, former railroad brakeman, and Charles Hanna, Wooster, had signed statements blaming each other for killing four-year-old Melvin Horst, missing from Orrville since Dec. 27, 1928.

Both declared the other choked and beat the child in Frey's garage about 5 o'clock in the afternoon the day the boy failed to return home for his evening meal, Mougey said.

The statements of Conald and Hanna followed the repudiation by Junior, 16-year-old son of Hanna, of his previous stories concerning the boy's disappearance, and came as the result of questioning which began Wednesday morning, the prosecutor said.

Hanna said he and Conald went to the garage, had a drink and then Conald choked the boy, according to the statement disclosed by Mougey. The statement said Hanna was afraid to tell what became of Melvin because Conald threatened Elias Arnold and his son, Arthur, of any connection with the disappearance. The Arnolds were acquitted of child stealing after a second trial.

Conald's version was that they were in the garage when Melvin came to the door and Hanna seized the child and dragged him to the automobile. Conald quoted Hanna as saying: "My God, I believe I've killed him!"

Conald said he heard a rumbling noise after that but that he had been "drinking too much to know what was going on," according to Mougey.

Search for Body Begun. Neither told what became of the boy, Mougey said. A search for the body was under way in order that murder charges might be filed against both men. Mougey said he had not established a motive. At first a boot-legging feud had been considered as the possible background, but the Assistant Prosecutor pointed out that Conald's alleged liquor activities were on too small a scale.

Conald and Hanna agreed for the most part in the details of their stories except when it came to naming the slayer. Their statements purported to show they had driven around, had a few drinks and finally went to the garage back of the home of Frank Frey. They took some more drinks in the garage during which Melvin appeared according to the stories to Mougey. Both agreed that Melvin was whisked into the automobile and either choked or beaten to death. They told of driving around and going to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Horst, parents of the missing child, to throw suspicion elsewhere, according to Mougey.

At Horst Home During Search. By their accounts, they visited the Horst home at about the time the entire village, aroused by the pealing of bells, was turning out to begin the search that lasted until the next morning.

It was the continued questioning of Junior that led to the arrest of Hanna and Conald. The playmate of Melvin finally asserted he had seen the missing boy in the garage named in the statements of his father and Conald. He had been forced to keep his knowledge secret by his father, according to Mougey.

Once before Wayne County officials thought they had solved the mystery, when Junior Hanna told a story that he had witnessed the kidnapping of Melvin by Elias and Arthur Arnold, neighbors. The officials charged the Arnolds with kidnapping Melvin to gain revenge against his uncle, Roy Horst, then Marshal, who had arrested them several times. The Arnolds were put on trial and were convicted, chiefly on the testimony of the Hanna boy. They spent several months in Ohio penitentiary but won a new trial and acquittal.

LACY SEEKS INJUNCTION IN DISPUTE OVER ESTATE

Attorney Seeks to Prevent Heirs of John LoLordo from Filing More Suits.

Vernie Lacy, an attorney, filed suit in Circuit Court yesterday to enjoin John LoLordo, administrator of the estate of Vincenzo LoLordo, and Attorney James J. Seeley from filing a multiplicity of suits against him. He sets forth that defendants already have filed three actions based on his alleged failure to account for money, belonging to the estate, when he was serving as its attorney, and that they have conspired to harass him with more litigation.

Lacy declares, if he is forced to appeal each action, he will have to furnish appeal bonds totaling $171,600. Before anything more is done he wants final adjudication of his appeal in the original case in which Probate Judge Holtcamp directed him to account for $1250. It is alleged by the administrator that Lacy owes the estate $28,600.

THREE ARRESTED CONFESS

BURNING TWO RESIDENCES

Bethany, Mo., Prisoners Said to Have Implicated Others in Arson.

BETHANY, Mo., Feb. 14.—Randall Williams, 21 years old, Roy Turpin, 38, and Ted Simmerlee, 25, have been arrested on warrants charging arson in the burning of two residences, one on Jan. 24, the other Oct. 24. All the prisoners confessed, implicating others, county Prosecutor Miller says. Turpin has been arraigned and his bond set at $4000 in each case. Williams and Zimmerlee have not been arraigned.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters sent Special Agent R. E. Truman here when it became suspicious concerning the origin of several fires. His inquiries resulted in the arrests.

WOMAN HELD ON BOND FOR OBSCENITY IN MAIL

Miss Mayme Kleine Admits Sending Letters to Doctor and Stenographer.

Miss Mayme Kleine, 41 years old, 5709 South Broadway, was arrested yesterday under a Federal warrant charging mailing of obscene letters to Miss Edith R. Harris, a stenographer, of 6902 Enright avenue. She was released on $2500 bond.

Postoffice Inspector Burt said Miss Kleine admitted writing anonymous letters to Miss Harris and to Dr. O. W. Appel of the Metropolitan Building, whom she had known for many years. Her actions, she said, was based on information given her in an anonymous telephone call.

The letters, printed with rubber stamps and other lettering devices, were taken to the Federal Building by Dr. Appel and friends of Miss Harris. Burt said Miss Harris and the doctor never had met and never had heard of each other until the first letters were received shortly after Jan. 1.

HOOVER'S MOUNTAIN SCHOOL COMPLETED

Teacher of New Institution in Virginia Will Take Up Work
This Week-End.

By the Associated Press.
RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 14.—Miss Christine Vest, mountaineer school teacher, this week-end will move into her new home and work—the President's community school near Crisler'sville, high in the mountains of Madison County.
The new schoolhouse was conceived by President Hoover last August, when Ray Burrcher, 12-year-old barefoot mountain boy, told through the President's summer camp guards and presented Mrs. Hoover with a 'possum on his fifty-sixth birthday.
Since the school was planned, however, word has leaked out that Mrs. Hoover several times has supplied ideas for its building and furnishings. In consequence the completed structure contains many features not originally proposed. There are electric lights, running water, charming fireplaces and storn doors. The floor of the classroom for 30 pupils is linoleum covered. All other rooms are laid with woolen rugs. The kitchen has an electric refrigerator.

Raymond V. Long, supervisor of school buildings for the Virginia State Department of Education, designed the school and suggested many changes after consultations with the President and Mrs. Hoover. Long yesterday reported the building ready for occupancy.
The cost, originally estimated at about $1200, will actually exceed $8000. This and the upkeep of the institution will be borne by the Chief Executive, according to the best available information here.

SEEKS NEW RULING
ON COMPENSATION ACT
Shartel Takes Up Case in Which Court Reduced Employer's Liability.
Attorney-General Shartel yesterday joined with attorneys seeking a rehearing of the Angelo Triola case, in which the St. Louis Court of Appeals a week ago held that under the workmen's compensation law the liability of an employer in a death case was limited to the proportion of the total income of dependents that was paid
by the person killed.
The decision resulted in a strong protest from the Central Trades and Labor Union, and has been criticized in many newspapers.
Triola, a Western Union messenger boy, received a wage of $15.24 a week, all of which he contributed toward the support of the family of 10 persons. The father and one brother had earnings of $45.10 a week.

In a suit by the parents, the St.
Louis Circuit Court held they were entitled to $3043, the maximum permitted under the law, which provides that in death cases total dependents shall receive two-thirds of the employee's salary for 60
weeks. Judge Nipper of the Court of Appeals construed the law to mean that in case the employee was providing only part of the money received by the dependents, the judgment should be reduced to the proportion of the total family income he paid. His decision reduced the $3043 judgment to $786.33.
The Attorney-General in his appearance before the Court will ask that the case be referred to the Supreme Court for its construction of the law.
Unidentified Negro Found Dead.
The body of an unidentified Negro about 40 years old was found by a junk dealer yesterday in a vacant lot in the 7400 block of Gannon avenue, University City.
The man had been dead for several days. His face was cut and bruised. The body was taken to Baumann Bros' undertaking establishment in Overland.

U. S. NURSE IN AUTO SHOT BY DRY AGENT

One of Federal Officers Fires on Party After Car Had Scraped Their Fender.

By the Associated Press.
KNOXVILLE, La., Feb. 14.—Miss Nellie Church, 25 years old, of Fairbury, Neb., a nurse at the United States Veterans' Hospital here, disclosed yesterday that she was accidentally shot and wounded by Federal prohibition agents last Saturday night.

A bullet grooved the top of her head after it had passed through the rear window of the automobile in which she was riding, she said. Although she received immediate treatment at a hospital here, Miss Church declared she did not disclose the cause of the injury until yesterday because of fear of losing her position.

Miss Church said she and Rita Huff, another Government nurse, and William Patterson and Willard Woodard of Des Moines were riding about a mile northwest of Knoxville when their automobile touched the fenders of another car going in the same direction. They slowed down to see if any damage had been done, and a shot was fired from the other car. It is believed to have hit the ground and then penetrated the window. Officials at the hospital corroborated her statement.

In the car from which the shot was fired were Roy Moon and Charles Hindley, Federal prohibition agents, according to Glenn Brunson, deputy prohibition administrator for the Southern Iowa District. The occupants of both cars went to the hospital with Miss Church and the prohibition officers arranged to pay her medical expenses. She said she was uncertain whether she would file suit for damages.

Brunson declared his men shouted to the driver of the other car that they were officers, and ordered him to stop, because they thought it was a liquor-running car. He said one of the agents, Hindley, fired at the ground and the bullet apparently glanced and broke the window.

Brunson said the agents told him the nurse was cut by a piece of glass. No liquor was found in the car.

WIFE GETS CUSTODY OF CHILD

She Also Receives $150 a Month Alimony; He Told of Strip Poker Game.

Mrs. Marie C. Newell was granted a divorce from Paul W. Newell, 7507 Murdock avenue, Shrewsbury, custody of their 3-year-old daughter, and $150 a month alimony, in Circuit Court at Clayton yesterday. Newell had sued charging general indignities, alleging that he and his wife and another married pair indulged in a "strip poker" game, during which the two women lost nearly all their clothing. In a cross bill, Mrs. Newell charged general indignities, alleging that Newell left her frequently, drank to excess and spoke abusively.

In court Newell withdrew his bill and did not contest the cross bill. He said he received $5000 a year as office manager for a box manufacturing firm.

Files for Congressman-at-Large, CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—W. E. Miller of Champaign, former head of the State Department of Registration and Education, filed yesterday with the Secretary of State a nomination for Congressman-at-Large in the Republican primary election. Miller is under sentence of several months in jail and $2000 fine for his part in an alleged conspiracy to sell bogus medical licenses.

MAN ARRESTED BY CHANCE ADMITS RANSACKING HOME

Ex-Convict Captured When He Starts to Run While Probationary Policeman
Uses Phone.

Mrs. Anna F. Backer, 3753 Westminster place, donor of the $500-000 George H. Backer Memorial High School of St. Louis University, arrived home at 8:30 o'clock last night after an absence of two hours and received a telephone call from a policeman, inquiring if she had been robbed. She said she had not.

Subsequent investigation, however, disclosed her house had been ransacked. She called back the policeman and went to the Laclede Avenue Police Station where she recovered the loot—$56.98 cash, a white gold bar pin set with one large and 18 small diamonds, valued at $900, an imitation pearl barn, $10, an imitation pearl necklace, $25, three gold bar pins and a four-pointed star pin of the Catholic order of Queen's Daughters.

The loot had been seized through the alertness of Probationary Patrolman Peter Nicholas, on the force eight months. He was telephoning his station from a paint
box at Grand and Laclede at 8:50,
when he noticed a shifty individual, who had been leaning against a light standard, hurry away. Nicholas hurried up, followed the man and arrested him.

The prisoner told conflicting stories and, on being searched, the money and jewelry were found in his pockets. The Queen's Daughters pin was engraved "Anna F.
Backer." Patrolman Nicholas began a telephone canvass of persons named Backer and thus reached the owner. She explained the "Anna" on the pin had been mistakenly engraved for "Anna."

After Mrs. Backer had identified the loot, the prisoner admitted he had robbed her home. He said he was Edward Stacey, alias Oscar Johnson, 43 years old, and had served three prison terms for burglaries around Chicago. He said he arrived in St. Louis from Danvers City at 4 p. m. yesterday, plundered the Backer residence after dark and, half an hour later, was picked up by the policeman.

As a reward for the probationary's capture, recommendation that he be promoted to the full rank of patrolman will be made to the Police Board by Chief Clerk.
Patrolman Charles Boswell
didn't like the looks of a youth loitering in the 2600 block of Chouteau avenue. The youth wore a cap which was too large and hid the upper part of his face. He was arrested. Under questioning, police reported, he said he was Roy Cas-sally, 17, Thomasville, Ala., and that since running away from home Jan. 10, he had committed holdups and burglaries at Monroe, La., Marshall, Tex., Ardmore and Gainesville, Ok., Newton and Imperial, Kan., and Mexico, Mo. He came to St. Louis Wednesday.

An 18-year-old youth arrested for investigation last night at Grand and Washington boulevards, admitted today, police said, that he had participated in a $600 hold-up of a dice game in New Orleans and Chicago police have been notified of his arrest. The youth said his home formerly was in Alton,
but that he ran away from there
seven years ago.

OIL STATION MAN SHOT IN FIGHT WITH ROBBER

East Side Attendant Employs Pistol at Negro, Who Escapes in Auto.

Arthur Begole, 17 years old, attendant at an oil filling station at 4000 State street, East St. Louis, was wounded in exchanging shots
with a Negro, who attempted to hold him up at 1 a. m. today.

Begole, who suffered a flesh wound of the abdomen, emptied
an automatic pistol at the robber,
who was driven away by a companion.

Two Negroes drove up to the station and ordered gasoline. Be-gole told police. After receiving the gasoline one Negro alighted and drew a revolver. Begole number of the car.

Hospital, Begole was taken to his

RECEIVER EXPRESSES CONFIDENCE IN BALSON

I. T. Cook Gives Deposition in Buckingham Annex Fire Inquiry.

Lewis E. Balson, principal owner of the Buckingham Realty Co., lost interest in his unprofitable hotel venture 30 days before a night watchman set fire to the Buckingham Hotel Annex Dec. 6, 1927, with a loss of seven lives. Dejected and worried to an extreme, his only expressed desire was that his small creditors might be paid.

Testimony to that effect was given by Isaac T. Cook, real estate dealer and former receiver for the Buckingham properties, in a deposition yesterday in the office of J. L. London, attorney for the Northern Assurance Co., Ltd., which is resisting payment on a $100,000 fire insurance policy on the Annex.

Cook was appointed receiver for the company about six months before the fire occurred. He had seen Balson frequently, he said, and had talked with him about efforts to sell the properties.

"I met him walking out Delmar boulevard about a month before the fire," Cook said. "He was the most dejected-looking man I ever saw in my life. I told him: 'Buck up, the Buckingham isn't the only thing in the world. Forget about your loss and go out and make it all over again.' He said, 'I guess that's what I'll have to do. That's what my lawyer tells me. I would be willing to surrender every claim I have in the hotel if the little fellows—the butcher, the baker, the candle-stick maker—could be paid. They've been hauling meat and food into that place for months, and now they can't get their money.'"

Cook related that on a previous occasion he told Balson he could have sold the properties profitably twice had it not been for pending foreclosure proceedings on the part of mortgage-holders who had not been paid.

"Naturally," Cook explained, "the prospective purchasers thought they would wait until after the foreclosure then buy the property at an even lower price. I told this to Balson and he wondered if he could not sue the mortgage-holders on the ground that they had prevented the deals."

"I had utmost confidence in Balson's integrity. When he was released after being questioned by the police last month, I called him up and told him so."

Cook expressed no opinion on Ralph Pierson, Balson's partner in the enterprise, and two employees, A. B. Meadows and R. H. Cotham, who are in jail charged with murder and arson. Meadows, the night watchman, has confessed starting the fire, and Cotham has confessed arranging with Meadows to set the fire to collect insurance. Pierson has denied any connection with the fire. Cook said he knew these three men only slightly.

On the morning of the fire, Cook said, he met Balson at the hotel. "We talked several minutes," he said. "Balson was lamenting the loss of lives and even the loss of the guests' personal property."

Two Men Killed in Plane Crash. TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 14.—P. C. Henry Jr., pilot of a Curtiss-Wright Airplane Service ship, was killed and a passenger, W. C. Close, said to have been vice president of the Philadelphia Airport Development & Construction Co., suffered injuries from which he died later in the crash of their plane near here today.

RADIO STATION
SEIZED; SAID TO BE LIQUOR RUNNERS'

Portable Apparatus, Code
Book and Maps of Coast Found in Bungalow at Inwood, N. Y.

By the Associated Press.
INWOOD, N. Y., Feb. 14.—In a raid on a bungalow on Burnside avenue last night, Nassau County police under Assistant District Attorney Morton Middleton seized a portable radio station, with sending and receiving apparatus, a six-page code book, a set of maps of the Atlantic seaboard and arrested Frank Krebs as the operator.
The police said the station was used to direct liquor running ships along the Atlantic coast. They said the code contained signals for such phrases as "No patrol boats out tonight," "How many cases did you get?" "Are your engines working O. K.?" and "Is the little boat loaded yet?"
Federal agents asserted they had been searching for the station since last June, but were balked in their efforts by frequent changes in its location.
Krebs refused to talk other than to say he had been a radio operator in the Navy during the war.
District Attorney Middleton said Horace Redfern and Emory Lee, Federal radio inspectors, had notified him no Federal charges could be preferred against Krebs because of lack of evidence that he actually had operated the station. As a result, he said, Krebs would be arraigned for violation of the village code in having an uninsulated power line in his home.
He quoted Krebs as saying he purchased the outfit a few days ago for $45 to use in keeping up his skill as an operator. Nassau police contend the set is worth about $2500.

NEW PLAN AVOIDS COURT WRANGLES AMONG ALIENISTS

State and Defense Hire Experts Jointly to Test Sanity of Alan Schumm Who Killed Father.

FIRST TIME METHOD HAS BEEN USED HERE

Prosecutor Says It Will End Spectacle of Psychiatrists "Swearing Themselves Black in Face."

An innovation in legal procedure long advocated by leading bar associations has been instituted here by Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller, with the sanction of Circuit Court Judges, in dealing with criminal cases where there is a possibility of the defendant's insanity.

The new procedure was invoked last week for the first time when Circuit Judge Hamilton appointed three alienists to examine Alan R. Schumm, 18-year-old university freshman, who shot his father through the heart last Jan. 5, after asking him questions about his religious beliefs, and who is now charged with murder in the first degree.

Spectacle of Experts. "Under ordinary procedure," Circuit Attorney Miller said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "we might have gone to trial with the case, with alienists lined up to testify on either side. We wanted to avoid the spectacle of experts taking the stand to swear themselves black in the face on the subject of the defendant's insanity, a few minutes or hours after other experts have taken the stand to swear themselves black in the face on the subject of the defendant's utter and unimpeachable sanity."

"We talked things over and made up our minds that, without any fuss or feathers, we wanted to find out if the boy, according to the best professional opinions available, was of unsound mind. In accordance with the suggestions of leading bar associations, we agreed on the selection of three alienists, whose fees are to be paid jointly by the State and by the defense, irrespective of their decisions."

"If the three psychiatrists find themselves in agreement that the boy is insane, the Circuit Attorney's office will stand by the finding. We will so state to the Court. The case, however, irrespective of the finding of the psychiatrists, must go to trial, for the determination of insanity, under Missouri law, rests with a jury and not with a Judge. The experts will state their opinions in court, and we will express our confidence in the same. In the event of agreement as to insanity, the jury could hardly do other than send the defendant to an institution."

Alienists May Disagree. "On the other hand, the three psychiatrists may find the youth sane. That means the defendant would be bound by that finding. In case the alienists disagree, each would state and defend his opinion before the trial jury. The important thing is that we qualify our experts before the trial and before we know their opinions."

"In so doing, we believe we have dispensed with a vast amount of red tape. If the boy is insane beyond a question of doubt, obviously there will be agreement among the experts. The men we chose are in the very front rank of their profession. All of us are familiar with murder trials where entire days have been used up in testimony by experts regarding the sanity and the insanity of the accused. In many cases, such trials have become travesties of justice. We have agreed on the three experts, and are prepared to abide by their decision, in so far as they agree among themselves."

Dr. Sidney L. Schwab, Dr. M. A. Bliss and Dr. Francis M. Barnes were the alienists chosen. Dr. Bliss, commenting on the new procedure introduced by Circuit Attorney Miller, said: "It is a long step forward in the direction of ideal justice. It is an intelligent manner of dealing with the problem. Mr. Miller is to be congratulated. He has set a precedent in cases of this kind that will be remembered."

Schumm, who also shot his mother twice in the right hip, was thought by police to be suffering from a mental disease when they arrested him. His mother, who recently recovered from her wounds in St. Anthony's Hospital, and is now at their home, 2618 Bowen street, also believes Alan has a mental disease, induced by over-study and speculation over religion. The youth has pleaded not guilty to the murder indictment on the advice of counsel.

State and Defense Hire
Experts Jointly to Test
Sanity of Alan Schumm
Who Killed Father.

FIRST TIME METHOD
HAS BEEN USED HERE

Prosecutor Says It Will End Spectacle of Psychiatrists
"Swearing Themselves
Black in Face."

An innovation in legal procedure long advocated by leading bar associations has been instituted here
by Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller, with the sanction of Circuit Court Judges, in dealing with criminal cases where there is a possibility of the defendant's insanity.

The new procedure was invoked
last week for the first time when Circuit Judge Hamilton appointed three alienists to examine Alan R.
Schumm, 18-year-old university
freshman, who shot his father through the heart last Jan. 5, after asking him questions about his religious beliefs, and who is now charged with murder in the first degree.

Spectacle of Experts.
"Under ordinary procedure,"
Circuit Attorney Miller said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "we might have gone to trial with this case,
with alienists lined up to testify on either side, with each wanting to avoid the spectacle of experts taking the stand to swear themselves black in the face on the subject of the defendant's insanity, a few minutes or hours after other experts have taken the stand to swear themselves black in the face on the subject of the defendant's sanity."

He talked things over and made up his mind that, without any fuss or feathers, we wanted to find out if the boy, according to the best professional opinions available, was of unsound mind. In accordance with the suggestions of leading bar associations, we agreed on the selection of three alienists, whose fees are to be paid jointly by the State and by the defense, irrespective of their decisions.

"If the three psychiatrists find themselves in agreement that the boy is insane, the Circuit Attorney will stand by that finding.
He will so state to the Court.
The case, however, irrespective of the finding of the psychiatrists,
must go to trial, for the determination of insanity, under Missouri law, rests with a jury and not with a judge. The experts will state their opinions in court, and we will express our confidence in the same.
In the event of agreement as to insanity, the jury could hardly do other than send the defendant to an institution."

Alienists May Disagree.
"On the other hand, the three psychiatrists may find the youth is sane. That means the defense must be bound by that finding.
In case the alienists disagree, each would state and defend his opinion before the trial jury. The important thing is that we qualify our experts before the trial and before we know their opinions."

"In so doing, we believe we have dispensed with a vast amount of red tape. If the boy is insane beyond a question of doubt, obviously there will be agreement among the experts. The men we chose are in the very front rank of their profession. All of us are familiar with the case, and the entire days have been used up in the sanity and the insanity of the accused. In many cases, such trials have become travesties of justice.
We have agreed on the three experts, and are prepared to abide by their decision, in so far as they agree among themselves."

Dr. Sidney L. Schwab, Dr. M. A.
Bliss and Dr. Francis M. Barnes
were the alienists chosen. Dr.
Bliss, commenting on the new procedure introduced by Circuit Attorney Miller, said: "It is a long step forward in the direction of real justice. It is an intelligent method of dealing with the problem. Mr. Miller is to be congratulated. He has set a precedent in cases of this kind that will be remembered."

Schumm, who also shot his mother twice in the right hip, was thought by police to be suffering from a mental disease when they arrested him. His mother, who recently recovered from her wounds in St. Anthony's Hospital, is now at her home, 2618
Brown street, also believes Alan
has a mental disease, induced by over-study and speculation over religion. The youth has pleaded not guilty to the murder indictment on the advice of counsel.

Opinions of New Chief Justice In Important Cases Decided In Previous Term on Bench

These and His Published Law Lectures Reflect Workings of His Mind on Legislative and Judicial Questions.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—
Charles Evans Hughes served nearly six years as an Associate Justice of the Court. He was appointed by President Taft late in 1910 and served until June, 1916, when he resigned to become the Republican candidate for the Presidency.

It fell to Hughes' lot to write few opinions in cases of wide public interest during the period, but several opinions in such cases were written by his associates and concurred in by him.
In the realm of public utility law the Court handed down an opinion of great importance in 1912, that of the Detroit Railways, in which the court declared that a street railway company had no vested rights in the use of the streets of a city after its franchise had expired. The city of Detroit had instituted in the State courts of Michigan a suit to oust
the street railway company from the streets of Detroit after the expiration of its franchise. The position of the city had been upheld
by the Michigan Supreme Court and the case was taken on appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

Decided Against Utilities.
Justice Day delivered the opinion, which was concurred in by Justice Hughes and all the other members of the court. The law was stated in this language:
"We are of the opinion that where a street railroad is authorized to operate in the streets of a city for a definite and fixed time,
and has enjoyed the full term granted, it may, upon failure to renew the grant, be required within a reasonable time to remove its tracks and other property from the streets."

The Supreme Court of Michigan
had ordered the property removed within 90 days, and this the Federal Supreme Court held was a reasonable time.
Shortly afterward the principle announced in this case was re-stated by the Supreme Court in an opinion by Justice Van Devanter, Justice Hughes and all the other judges concurring in the Denver Water Co. case. The language used by the court was:
"The water company, although the undoubted owner of the physical property constituting its plant, is without a franchise to maintain and operate it through the streets of the city, the prior franchise having expired; and the city is not only under no obligation to renew the franchise or to purchase the plant, but is free to construct and operate a plant of its own."

Disseminated in Favor of States.
In one of the recent public utility
cases in which there was a divided court, Hughes joined with Justices Day, McKenna and Pitney
in a dissenting opinion, accepting the view of the municipality as against the utility. It was the case of Owensboro vs. Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co. The majority opinion, written by Justice Lurion, held that a franchise
which was not limited as to term
was perpetual, the court saying that "in the absence of an express reservation in the contractual ordinance, and in the absence of power to revoke contracts under such ordinance, we think no such extraordinary power is to be implied."

In Day's dissenting opinion, in which Hughes joined, the position taken was that the city charter of Owensboro expressly reserved the right to the municipal legislature to repeal any act by a subsequent
act. The dissenting judges contended that this was sufficient authority for the municipal legislative body to alter franchise ordinances.

Hughes wrote the opinions in the railroad rate cases, in which a number of states, including Missouri, sought to establish two-cent passenger fares and maximum freight rates. The railroads fought the cases, principally on the ground
that although the states sought
only to regulate intra-state rates,
such regulation resulted in interference with interstate commerce
and caused the taking of the property of the railroads without due process of law. Justice Hughes' opinion, concurred in by other members of the court, sustained
the position of the states.

Hughes sat in the Standard Oil cases, both the Government's antitrust suit and the anti-trust action instituted by the late Herbert S.
Hartley, then Attorney-General of Missouri. He joined in the opinions in the Federal case dissolving
the Standard Oil Co., and in the Missouri case, upholding a fine assessed by the Missouri Supreme Court, and requiring a modification of the company's practices.

Exclusion of Personal Prejudice by Judges Discussed in Lectures.
Charles Evans Hughes in 1927
delivered six lectures on the subject of the Supreme Court of the United States, in which, as he said
in the foreword of a volume in which they were published, were for the purpose of giving his "interpretation of an institution which despite its constant and unique service is a mystery, I fear, to most of our people."

Pointing out that the court is a judicial not a legislative body, he observed that in giving judicial construction to legislative acts, the Judges not infrequently sustain an act, which, were they legislators,
they would oppose.

"Another established principle,"
he said, "is that the Supreme Court
does not undertake to review questions of legislative policy. For the purposes of the courts, the legislature within its sphere is deemed to possess all available knowledge
and to be the treasure house of wisdom. So long as it acts within the limits of legislative power, the actualities of legislative processes are not the subject of judicial consideration."

Holding the Judicial Balance.
"When the Court is dealing with the question whether a legislative act is arbitrary, and transcends the limits of reason which are deemed to be embraced in the fundamental conception of due process of law
or of equal protection of the laws,
it may be difficult to draw the line between what is regarded as wholly unreasonable and what is deemed to be unwise."

"It is doubtless true that men holding strong convictions as to the wisdom of legislation may easily pass to the position that it is wholly unreasonable. But the distinction nevertheless exists and it is ever present to the conscientious Judge. He recognizes that there is a wide domain of legislative discretion before constitutional boundaries are reached, and he holds himself to the duty of not allowing his views of the proper exercise of that discretion to control. He does his work in an objective spirit."

"If it be said that this is an impossible degree of self-control, and that, even with the most conscientious Judge, political and economic views will sway the judgment,
albeit unconsciously, it may be answered that Judges are constantly sustaining the validity of legislation, which as legislators they would probably condemn."

Prejudice Discarded.
"Every member of the Court
might be opposed to child labor,"
he continued, "although unable to sustain the particular act (prohibiting it—E. L.) as being within the power of Congress. So, in questions arising under the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act,
the Judges are not deciding cases
as 'wets' or 'drys' but are interpreting the statute and the Constitution quite apart from their personal or political views as to the policy of prohibition."

In one of the recent public utility
cases of the Court, which he said,
proved the independence of the Judges.
"President Roosevelt," he said,
"was deeply interested in the prosecution and success of the suit brought to dissolve the Northern Securities Co. He had appointed two Associate Justices, but one of these, Justice Holmes, joined with the appointees of President Cleveland in dissent, writing a strong opinion against the contentions of the Government."

He defended the custom of Judges in writing dissenting opinions in important cases, instead of merely signing the majority opinion.

GERMAN GIRL CALLS DOWN STATESMAN FOR DINNER PHOTOS

"Always Eating and Drinking" While Those Who See Pictures Are Hungry.

FRANKFORT-ON-MAIN, Feb.
14.—A protest against Government heads always being photographed while eating was filed by a 12-year-old girl in a letter to Dr.
Julius Curtius, Foreign Minister.
The letter was published in the Frankfurter Zeitung.
Elfriede Sehring, writing for her classmates, states that while she and her companions have the greatest respect for the country's leaders, they could not see why these men should invariably have their pictures taken while eating and drinking choice wines.

"For instance," she writes, "you do not go to The Hague conference to dine well and hold after-dinner speeches, did you? What do you suppose the poor people will think who always see pictures of you eating and drinking, while they often have to go to bed hungry themselves?"
"Of course, we don't expect you to give up all the good things of life, but you might at least see to it that your pictures are not always taken when you are enjoying all these goodies. And if the photographers insist on doing it anyhow, you certainly have the authority to stop them."

"Perhaps you consider this letter
to be pretty bold, but it is well meant and I beg your pardon. Best regards."

remaining silent when outvoted on the court. "Dissenting opinions,"
he said, "enable a Judge to express his individuality. In dissenting, he is a free lance. A dissent in a court of last resort is an appeal to the brooding spirit of the law, to
the intelligence of a future day,
when a later decision may possibly correct the error into which the dissenting Judge believes the court to have been betrayed."

In a discussion of cases in which the court has considered rates and valuation of public utilities, Hughes outlined the decision in the celebrated Smyth vs. Ames case, in which the court laid down the
"fair value" rule.
"It is worthy of note," Hughes
said, "that Mr. William J. Bryan appeared for the Board of Transportation of Nebraska in this case
and contended that the present value of the roads, as measured by the cost of reproduction, should be taken as the basis of calculation.
This was to get rid of watered stock and fictitious capitalization."

"In recent years, when cost of reproduction has mounted so high,
there has been an effort, as yet unsuccessful, to establish what is called 'the prudent investment value' as the basis for determining the fair value."

Rate-Making a Legislative Power.
"The Supreme Court has said that the ascertainment of fair value is not controlled by artificial rules, 'as air drops' but in applying these principles, it is recognized that the rate-making power is a legislative power and necessarily implies a range of legislative discretion."

"The Court does not sit as a board of revision to substitute its judgment for that of the legislature, or for a commission lawfully constituted by it, at its instance, within the province of either. The question is whether the state has overstepped constitutional limits
by making rates so unreasonably low that they must be regarded as confiscatory."

By the Associated Press.
CANTON, Feb. 14.—A gang of pirates operating in the West River
delta south of here today seized a fleet of 12 vessels chartered by the Standard Oil Co. of New York.
The pirates are holding the ships
for ransom.

The vessels are Chinese junks
and were carrying oil worth $50,- 000 gold. The American consul here sent a protest to the Canton military government.
Seizure of the oil fleet followed an outbreak of lawlessness
which has been worrying the authorities of Kwangtung Province for some time. The Nationalist Government, aroused by the extensive depredation, sent an expedition of troops and ordered five gunboats to proceed against the lawless element in the Province.
Bandit activities in this area comprise only a small part of the lawlessness which has swept various provinces of China recently. The Nationalist Government thus far apparently has taken no concerted action against banditry except in Kwangtung.

Bandit armies are roaming
through Hunan, Kiangsi, Hupeh, Szechwan, Anhwei and Kiangsu Provinces, pillaging towns, hampering shipping and making travel
in the interior unsafe for foreigners.
River boats between the Chung-
king have been fired on frequently, as have vessels plying between Chungking and Hankow.
Marauders in Hunan Province,
posing as provincial soldiers, have stopped ships of the Standard Oil Co., and searched them on the pretext that they were suspected of carrying contraband.
Gen. Shih Yu-shan, former Nationalist commander who led his division in a mutiny at Pukw, last December, was reported to have 50,000 men at Kweichow, Honan
Province, ready for a campaign against the Nationalist Government.

VATICAN ORDERS CAMPAIGN AGAINST IMMODEST DRESS

Sacred Congregation of Council Would Exclude Offenders from Church If Necessary.
By the Associated Press.
VATICAN CITY, Feb. 14.—The Sacred Congregation of the Council today issued instructions to all Roman Catholic Bishops of the world regarding the campaign against immodest dress of women.
The note of instruction enjoins not only Bishops but parish priests, fathers and mothers, directors of schools and institutes, and nuns conducting schools to remember their serious duty in giving all necessary instruction and in insisting on modesty in woman's attire.

The instructions say that insufficiently dressed women should not be admitted to the sacrament of communion, to congregation rules,
or to act as godmothers at the confirmation or baptism, and if necessary should be sent away from churches. All clergy and all teaching nuns and monks are directed to give special instructions on this subject on all principal feasts of the church, particularly that of the Immaculate conception, Dec. 8.
Diocesan vigilance councils are ordered to consider at least once a year the best means for banishing
immodest modes.

FARM BUREAUS FOR LEASING OF MUSCLE SHOALS

Witness Says Federal Body

Acceptance of Bid by Cy-

CARAWAY MOVED TO WONDER THEREBY.

Asks Why It Believes in Government Marketing
but Not in Government Manufacture of Fertilizer

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Senator Walsh (Dem.), Montana, a member of the Senate Lobby Committee, said today that it "seems to some of us a little peculiar" to hear that the American Farm Bureau Federation had co-operated with the Tennessee River Improvement Association in urging the leasing of Muscle Shoals to the American Cyanamid Co.
W. G. Waldo, secretary and consulting engineer of the association, had testified that the Farm Bureau Federation had disseminated literature advocating adoption of the Wright bill now before Congress which would accept the Cyanamid bid.

The witness replied that the federation had no confidence in Government operation of the Muscle Shoals and was for private operation.

The committee today continued
its inquiry into reports of lobbying activities attending the proposals to lease Government properties at Muscle Shoals.

Earl Cooper, stenographer for J. W. Worthington, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Improvement association, and Waldo have been the only witnesses heard in connection with the inquiry. Worthington, however, informed the committee that he would appear here to testify next week after Chairman Caraway had accused him of feigning illness to avoid appearing.

In the four days of testimony the committee has been told that Charles Evans Hughes, confirmed
as Chief Justice of the United States yesterday, drew up the cyanamid bid for the shoals and that Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican National Committee, was a former president of the Improvement Association.

Chairman Caraway asked the witness why the Farm Bureau Federation had confidence in the ability of the Government to market
farm products, but no confidence in its ability to manufacture fertilizer.

"There are five first-class prosecuting attorneys on the committee and there is no attorney for the defense," Waldo said. "And no
witness so far." Caraway retorted, Waldo then offered to buy Caraway a new hat "if the Government could produce fertilizer as cheaply as could the American Cyanamid Co."

"You'll need a new hat as badly as I will when you get through this," Caraway said. "I'll buy my own hat."

Caraway announced that W. B.
Bell of New York, president of the American Cyanamid Co., would be summoned before the committee.

LIVESTOCK CO-OPERATIVES

TO FORM $300,000,000 POOL
With C. B. Denman in Chicago
Feb. 25-26.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—C. B. Denman, representative of the livestock industry on the Federal Farm Board, announced yesterday that leaders of co-operative livestock associations would meet in Chicago Feb. 25 and 26 to complete organization of a central marketing agency.

Twenty-nine co-operative sales managers, representing 700,000 farmers, plan to pool a $300,000,000 business and bargaining power in a national marketing organization, he said. The organization will have subsidiary corporations and by its member agencies. These agencies, Denman added, will be financed so that they will extend their activities and the livestock producers a market service which would tend to stabilize the industry.

The prince had to slow down on account of the lumbering peasant. Impatient at delay, he stepped from the machine and beat the peasant. Deputy Jovipale said the attention of the lower house to his conduct, but the matter was dropped on the intervention of the speaker.

CABINET INVITED TO GIVE

Senate Committee Willing to Hear Secretaries of State, War and Navy.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. — The Secretaries of State, of War and Navy, have been invited to give their opinions on "the whole question of Philippine Islands independence," to the Senate Territories Committee in executive session. Acting heads of the State and Navy Departments, or other high officials, may appear before the Secretaries return from the London naval conference if they so desire.

"We have invited the views of the departments that have been close to the conditions," said Senator Bingham (Rep.), Connecticut, chairman of the committee, "and we will be glad to have any offered."

The committee has before it a number of bills seeking to grant independence to the islands or otherwise to change their status. Since the question was raised by Senator King (Dem.), Utah, in a suggestion on the Senate floor that independence be provided in an amendment to the tariff bill, the issue has been agitated widely.

The committee expects to conclude open hearings on the bills in two more sessions. Requests to be allowed to tell the committee both sides of the question have been "more and more numerous," Bingham said, since native leaders and representative Americans have expressed themselves.

TEXT OF FRENCH STATEMENT ON NAVAL NEEDS

Proposes to Build 240,000 Tons in the Next Five Years, With a Total Program of 724,479.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Feb. 14. — The text of the French naval memorandum made public today follows:

"The French delegation, with the same desire of coming to an agreement that inspired the recent declarations of the American and British delegations, considers its duty, at the point reached by the work of the conference, to specify its position in service, building or reduction of naval forces. In 1914, she possessed a fleet of 864,000 tons in service or laid down, plus 175,000 tons authorized or building, a total of 1,039,000 tons. Today, either in service, in building or authorized, she possesses a fleet of 681,808 tons, namely, 457,192 tons less.

"On the other hand, of all the great naval nations, France in 1929 was the only one to have a naval budget inferior to the pre-war budget; it came to 18 per cent less. Lastly, the naval program adopted in 1924 by the French Government and carried out since then by annual shares represents in addition, when compared with the situation in 1919, a reduction of 339,000 tons, a reduction with all the more meaning as the Franco-British agreement concerning the distribution of fleets existing in 1914 is no longer in force. Building Program Cut Down.

"It may, therefore, be said that in the same spirit as Great Britain and without waiting for a possible decision of the present conference, France has already in a considerable measure cut down her building program.

"The state of the French fleet on the first of January, 1930, including ships in service, building or authorized, can be summed up as follows: Capital ships coming under the Washington substitution rules, 123,136 tons; capital ships, not under the Washington substitution rules, 52,791 tons; cruisers, 10,000 tons (Washington), 70,000 tons; old cruisers, with guns of caliber over eight inches, 66,953 tons; destroyers, torpedo boats and a number of special ships (one cruiser, training ship, two minelayers, etc.), 228,897 tons; aircraft and seaplane carriers, 32,146 tons; mines, 97,875 tons. Total, 681,808 tons.

"Concerning the above fleet, it must be noted that the capital ships not coming under the Washington rules are three dreadnaughts in service since 1911 that France was authorized to keep outside of the preceding rules.

"The state of the French fleet on the first of January, 1930, compared to the first of August, 1914, shows the following differences: Capital ships, 550,859 tons; cruisers and torpedo boats, no change; aircraft carriers, 32,146 more; submarines, 62,328 more. Total, 490,000 tons.

"It should be further pointed out that of all the navies in the world the French navy was the only one not to build anything from 1914 to 1929, as her dockyards were busy during the whole war making ammunition for France and her Allies. That is the reason why she has been obliged to keep in active service beyond the age limit an important number of ships, especially battleships and cruisers. If, as proposed by the communiques published by the American and British delegations, the Powers represented at the conference were to take as the ground for their agreement establishment of a building program running from 1930 to 1936, the French delegation would be willing to accept this method, with the double reserve that the four other Powers would do the same and the French Parliament would ratify her decision.

"The French fleet on the thirty-first of December, 1936, might then be made up as follows: Capital ships, coming under the Washington substitution rules, 152,465 tons; capital ships, not under the Washington substitution rules, 52,791 tons; cruisers of 10,000 tons, 100,000 tons; old cruisers, mounting to guns with a caliber over eight inches, 24,450 tons; light ships (cruisers mounting guns with a caliber of six inches or under, destroyers, torpedo boats, etc.), 258,597 tons; aircraft carriers, 32,146 tons; submarines, 62,328 tons. Total, 724,479 tons.

190,000 Tons of Replacement.

"Concerning that second table, the following remarks should be made:

1. From 1930-1936, France would build 240,000 tons. Out of those 240,000 tons, 42,200 would represent complementary building and 197,800 tons of replacement. In other words, from 1930 to 1936, France would give up 52 per cent of her effort to replacing obsolete ships and 18 per cent to complementary building.

2. The tonnage laid down before 1936 and not in service till the thirty-first of December, 1936, is compensated by scrapping ton for ton of equal tonnage of obsolete ships.

3. As concerns capital ships, it has been understood that displacement would run between 20,000 and 25,000 tons.

4. As in the preceding table, it has been supposed that special ships will be distributed among the classes mentioned in the table.

Outside of these special remarks the French delegation wish to introduce two observations of a general character:

1. As concerns capital ships, France has not thus far availed herself of the right given her by the Washington treaty of building before the conference the 70,000 tons in replacement of the France, which disappeared in 1922, of the Jean Bart and Courbet, whose substituting tonnage might have been laid down as soon as 1927.

France is now obliged, owing to the recent forthcoming of a new type of battleship, to make use of part of that credit of 70,000 tons before the end of 1936, and she might be compelled to use it completely during the same period should new ships of the same type happen to be built. Therefore, in case a naval holiday should be proposed for battleships until 1936, France would be willing to accept such a holiday up to a total of 105,000 tons.

(2) In view of the importance

it gives to the principle of the interdependence of armaments, the French Government, in conformity with its memorandum of December, 1927, since more insistent on the fact that any decision of the London conference about naval armaments should be taken in relation with the problem of the limitation of land and air armaments.

"Conflict Equally Unthinkable."

"The only suggestions and figures so far produced being those presented by the American and British delegations, acting on two inviting Powers, the French delegation wish to add to their answer that it was felt their duty to give the following statement. France has witnessed with sympathy the efforts made by the United States and Great Britain to prepare, after thorough consultation, reduction in their naval armaments. Just as the American and British governments were consequence able to declare that

ENJOINED FROM TAKING CITY GARBAGE, TO SUE FOR $50,000

New Holder of Contract to Take Action Against Predecessor and Two Farmers.
Notice of a suit for $50,000 damages was filed in Circuit Court at Belleville today by Samuel P. Elliott, president of Hog Haven Farms, Inc., near Cahokia, Ill., naming as defendants Henry Godin and Charles Jerome, St. Clair County farmers, and C. L. Rea and his son, Stanley.

Rea, who raises hogs on an island in the Mississippi River 55 miles south of St. Louis, has the contract for disposition of St. Louis garbage until last Feb. 1, when it was let to Elliott, who submitted a lower bid. A temporary injunction restraining Elliott from carrying out his contract was issued yesterday by Circuit Judge Percy on complaint of South St. Louis residents that the dumping of garbage at Hog Haven Farms, which is across the river from their homes, would create a nuisance and be a menace to health.

The notice of suit to be filed does not state the grounds of the action, but Elliott said the suit would be based on the activities of the defendants in preventing him from carrying out his contract.

URGES BUDGET INCREASE FOR PSYCHIATRIC CLINIC

Dr. M. A. Bliss Makes Only Argument at First Public Hearing on City Appropriation.

The first public hearing on the municipal budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1 was held today by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment in the Mayor's office, in accordance with charter provisions. Two other hearings will be held on succeeding Fridays.

Only two persons appeared, C. W. Atkins, director of the Municipal Research Bureau, as an observer, and Dr. M. A. Bliss, to urge an increased appropriation for the Municipal Psychiatric Clinic.

Dr. Bliss argued that the clinic's work was invaluable in combating insanity, particularly in the preventive treatment of youthful law-breakers, who prove to be weak mentally. The clinic's work had increased, he said, to the point where an additional psychiatrist and two clerks were needed. This increase, he said, would require an allowance of about $17,000 a year instead of the customary $12,000.

GEN. BUTLER'S BROTHER AMONG 4 KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Another Brother Swerved Car to Flee Effort to Dodge Child, Hit Second Machine.

MINERAL WELLS, Tex., Feb. 14.—Four persons, including a brother of Major-General Smedley D. Butler of the United States Marine Corps, are dead as the result of an automobile accident here.

The dead are: Horace Butler, 37 years old, president of the Arab Gasoline Corporation of Eastland, Tex.; Carrie Lee May, 4 years old, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bertino. Sam Butler, another brother of the General, and Molly Gazola, sister of Mrs. Bertino, were injured but are expected to recover.

The May child last night ran in front of the Butler car, driven by Sam Butler, who swerved his machine in an attempt to avoid striking her, and crashed into the Bertino automobile. Horace Butler and the girl were killed instantly. Mr. and Mrs. Bertino died in a hospital later.

Butler's body was started for the family home in West Chester, Pa., today, accompanied by the widow and two friends. Major-General Butler will meet the funeral party in St. Louis tomorrow. Horace Butler had lived at Eastland nine years and had served as president of the Chamber of Commerce there.

TEXT OF FRENCH STATEMENT ON NAVAL NEEDS

war between the two nations was unthinkable. France also is happy to declare her proud conviction that between her people and those of the United States and of the British Empire any armed conflict is equally unthinkable. Her naval program, as well as their own, corresponds to a strictly defensive policy to conformity with the international agreements to which she is a party, particularly the Briand-Kellogg pact.

"This is why France was never alarmed to see the United States or Great Britain either reduce or increase their respective armaments in order to reach the desired agreement.

In the same spirit of mutual confidence she trusts that the figures produced above and corresponding merely to her national requirements as explained in the first sitting of the conference cannot alarm the two other nations.

"She remains, as she repeatedly declared herself to be, ready to consider favorably any form of agreement for mutual guarantee of security of which the effect would be to transform the absolute requirements of each Power into relative requirements."

MALLOY, AHEAD ON CARNER G... PLANS ANOTHER SHOW IN MARC

Mique Malloy, Chicago boxer, who inaugurated local promotional activities at the card featuring Primo Carner last Tuesday night, intends to show his next fight production at the Arena about the middle of March, and plans to bring another prominent heavyweight contender to show his wares in the 10-round attraction of his card at $5000 on his Carners-Malloy show.

Among the heavyweight stars who have been in the line-up for Malloy's next card are Tuffy Griffiths, Otto von Portz, and Paulo Uzcudun. Malloy expressed himself highly pleased with the performance of the various fighters who showed in supporting attraction on Tuesday night's program, especially the showing of Joe Schwahe, Al Stillman and Terry, local boys who won the engagements. Schwahe's victory over Buck Weaver, who Malloy considers one of the best punchers among the second-heavyweights, stamped the chunky local mauler as an exceptional bright fight prospect in the opinion of the promoter.

Chuck Heffner, the wallowing Denver heavyweight, whose second round battle with Pat Kelly of Canada, provided a distinctive feature of the Carners card, is really a St. Louis boxer, according to Malloy, who states that Heffner's family resided in St. Louis for 15 years, moving to Denver about 10 years ago.

NEBRASKA WILL MEET ON TRACKCOLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 14.— Coach H. J. Huff's University of Missouri track team will open its 1930 intercollegiate track season here tomorrow night in the first meet staged in the "Tiger" new $25,000 field house, meeting the Nebraska Cornhuskers in a dual contest that finds the Missourians rated as decided underdogs. The Tigers got their first taste of competition in annual K. C. A. C. open invitation indoor relay carnival at Kansas City last Saturday night,
and while they showed championship caliber in one or two events
they at the same time gave evidence of dangerous weakness in more than a half dozen places.The Huskers have a comparatively well-balanced track squad featuring a dozen performers who have won consistently in Big Six competition for the last several years. Included in the Nebraska
list of veterans rated as sure point winners are Rhea, shotputter, Os-eola, sprinter, Easter, sprinter, Lan-son and Thompson, hurdlers, and Ostergard, middle distance man.
Ostergard, who won the feature 600-yard run at the K. C. A. C.
meet, and "Rocky" Swartz, Tiger who placed a close second behind him, will match strides in the half mile here Saturday.The Missouri cindermen are expected to bunch their scoring in the middle distances and the relay.
Outside of those two events,
the dope gives the advantage to Nebraska's veteran performers. The meet, however, will offer the Tiger coach his first opportunity of seeing several sophomores in competitive action, and the Missourians
may develop unexpected strength in several events.The Missouri entries, as announced by Coach Huff, are as follows:60-yard dash—Dills, Welch, Kennedy and King.60-yard high hurdles—Dawson,
Dills, Richards, and Welch.440-yard dash—Hursley, Ulfers, Dills, Cotham and Oldham.880-yard run—Rockwell, Swartz
and Craig.Mile run—Dick Swartz, Trowbridge and Mitchell.Two-mile run—Dick Swartz, Steele and Weinkeln.Shot-put—Gladden, Kilgroe and Eckles.High jump—Gladden,
Broad jump—Lawler, McGuire, Gladden and Dills.Pole vault—Whitsett, Rhodes
and Cotham.Mile relay—Hursley, Ulfers, Welch, Dills and King.Luque Returns
His Contract
To the RobinsHAVANA, Feb. 14.—
A DOLFO LUQUE, veteran Cuban pitcher recently traded by the Cincinnati Reds to the Brooklyn Robins,
has returned his 1930 contract
to the Brooklyn club, unsigned.
Luque said yesterday that the Robins had made a cut in his salary and that he did not intend to accept it as he believed he was worth more. He is in great shape, he says, and ready to work his head off for Brooklyn, providing he gets enough money.St. Louis U. High And C. B. C. Meet
For Prep TitleWith the basketball championship of the Prep League awaiting the winner, the St. Louis U. High and "Christian Brothers" College
fives will meet at the Brothers' gym
tonight in what should be the closest and best game of the season. According to the league method of scoring, the two teams
are tied for first place at present.
In that both have won five league games, although the Brothers have the better record since they have not lost a conference contest while the Junior Billikens have dropped one league game. A victory for theBrothers would give them the crown, while if St. Louis wins the teams would end the season in a tie for first place. The game starts at 8:30.
Viewed from every angle, the two squads seem to be evenly matched. In their first meeting, in the season, C. B. C. won, 15-15, and St. Louis will be out to avenge that defeat, their only setback of the season. The Junior Billikens have, on a point basis,
a slightly better defense, in that they have held their opponents to 15 points a game, while the Brothers have had an average of 26
points a game scored against them.
In scoring ability, the teams are even, St. Louis having an average of 24 points a game and C. B. C.
23½. The Brothers have four men, Braudrick, Gould, Cattelle and McHenry among theleague's 10 leading scorers, while
St. Louis has three capons, Capt.
Conners and Fellig.

AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR

FRESH GREEN VEGETABLE

Even Heads of Lettuce a Person
Were Eaten Last Year in This Country.

Head lettuce is not only delicious and wholesome, but is quickly and easily prepared. A supply of it in the kitchen is sure to prove a convenience for luncheon or dinner,
for the family or for the unexpected guest.

Energy Salad.

To one cup grated American cheese add one cup of salad oil,
one tablespoon of vinegar. Season with salt, paprika and a bit of mustard. Add oil to cheese gradually until thoroughly blended and

each person.

Iceberg Salad.

Cut a large head of iceberg lettuce crosswise into inch sections, wedding finely leftover portion.
Use each round on a salad plate

and slice through several times
without disturbing shape.

For each salad mix one-half cake cream cheese with some chopped pecans and shredded lettuce and form into a rough peak
to represent an iceberg.

Color some mayonnaise green,
spread it over lettuce and place
iceberg in center.

POPULAR WINTER FRUIT

Prunes Make Wholesome Combination
Desserts and Salads.

Prunes are one of the standbys
in the winter fruit line, but not everyone knows how to buy them.

That is, many housewives do not know that prunes are sold according to size, and the prices that they sell for are graded according to the size or grade of the prune.

Very large fruit ranks from 20
to 30 to a pound and are com-mercially known as "20-30" and are the most expensive. The next size smaller rank from 30 to 40 to a pound with the average perhaps 40 to 50.

Free-

a beautiful colored glass cake plate

with the purchase of two packages of Pillsbury's Cake Flour

There is a new cake flour in a million homes!

Something unusual has happened—more than a million women have chosen a new cake flour in a single year! There can be only one reason for this—outstanding quality. Women have told us that Pillsbury's Cake Flour is the finest they have ever used—that they hadn't believed such an improvement in cakes was possible.

Baking tests show that Pillsbury's Cake Flour possesses three distinct superiorities: (1) It makes a cake that rises higher—a lighter, fluffier, more delicate cake. (2) It makes a cake with a softer, finer texture. (3) It makes a cake that stays moist and fresh longer.

You'll find Pillsbury's Cake Flour will do these same things for you, in your own kitchen. Test it carefully—try it with the most delicate, difficult recipe you know—before you've finished the first package you'll discover the reason women are turning to Pillsbury's Cake Flour in constantly increasing numbers, every day!

Pillsbury's Cake Flour

Here is an innovation—a cake serving plate really designed for cakes. It stands up from the table, on three little legs—you can slip your fingers under the edge, and carry your cake without touching the frosting. Also, it is perfectly flat on top—your cake cannot sag in the middle, as it sometimes does when placed on an ordinary curved plate. It is made of delicately colored glass, in a graceful, attractive design. The top carries a beautifully traced figure, and worked out in light lines. It is extremely ornamental—and just as practical as it is good-looking. Your grocer will give you one free with the purchase of two packages of Pillsbury's Cake Flour.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Recipes Appropriate for the "Average Family of Moderate Means."

Flank steak is one of the cheaper cuts of beef. When stuffed with a highly seasoned bread stuffing, and braised with carrots, onions, turnips and celery it is extremely appetizing and quite inexpensive. Braising is a combination of stewing and roasting that is suitable for any meat that needs long cooking. The flank steak will require about two hours cooking.

Corned Beef Hash. Cold corned beef is chopped and made into a baked hash. Combine the meat with an equal amount of finely chopped or mashed boiled potatoes, a little minced onion and enough milk to moisten well. Pack into a greased pan and bake in a hot oven for 30 minutes or until browned.

Buttered Cabbage. Cut in quarters, remove the core and then cut in slices. Cover with boiling water, add salt to taste and boil rapidly for 20 to 25 minutes. Drain, chop fine and season with plenty of butter. Long cooking robs cabbage of considerable of its vitamin value and most of its flavor.

Creamed Mushrooms. For six servings use three-quarter pound fresh mushrooms and one cup of finely diced celery. Peel the mushroom caps and cut in half. Scrape the stems and cut each in three or four pieces. Melt four tablespoons of butter, add the celery, cover and cook very slowly for eight minutes. Then add the mushroom caps and stems, cover and cook slowly for 10 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Next add one and one-half cups of milk, one-half cup evaporated milk, one teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Heat to the boiling point and then stir in three tablespoons of flour that have been mixed to a smooth paste with one-quarter cup of cold water. Stir constantly until thickened and smooth. Add two tablespoons of lemon juice and serve on slices of hot toast.

Rice Cheese Croquettes. Wash one cup of rice and cook for 20 minutes in six cups of boiling salted water. Drain, rinse with cold water and then mix with one and one-half cups of grated American cheese, one well beaten egg, two tablespoons minced parsley, one-half teaspoon minced onion and one cup of very thick white sauce. For the sauce melt four tablespoons of butter, add five tablespoons of flour and when well blended stir in one cup milk. Cook until very thick and smooth and season highly with salt and pepper. Set the rice mixture aside to cool. When cold, shape into croquettes, about one and one-half inches thick and three inches long. Beat one egg and add two tablespoons of cold water.

Roll the croquettes in the egg and then into very fine dry bread crumbs. Fry in deep fat heated to 350 degrees until it is brown. A piece of bread in one minute. When the croquettes are brown, drain on soft paper and serve very hot with tomato sauce.

RUM TUM DITTY

This Is Another Name for Tomato Rarebit.

Pour one can of tomato soup into a double-boiler. When hot, add one pound of cheese cut in dice. Stir constantly until the cheese is thoroughly melted and well blended with the soup.

Remove from the heat. Add one-fourth teaspoonful of paprika and one egg slightly beaten. Stir well for a few minutes and serve hot on crackers or toast.

MINT AND CHEESE SALAD

This Combination Dish Also Includes Cooked Peas.

Drain two cups of cooked peas, mix them with a quarter of a pound of cream cheese, three sweet pickles and three sour pickles, all cut into small pieces, half a cup of chopped nuts and mayonnaise to moisten well.

Shape in small balls or croquettes and serve on lettuce with a whirl of mayonnaise and a sprig of fresh mint for garnish.

Chicken Croquettes

Make white sauce foundation, add to it teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon minced parsley, one cup of fine bread crumbs, and two cups of finely chopped cooked chicken, free from skin and gristle. Beat two eggs lightly, just enough to mix the yolks and whites, and stir in. Form into oblong rolls, and set in the refrigerator for two hours, or over night. Beat an egg with a tablespoon water. Have cracker dust on a flat platter. Roll croquettes first in egg then in cracker dust, and set aside for an hour, then try golden brown in deep oil. A frying basket should be used if available.

Date Muffins

Sift twice with a pint of white flour, four teaspoons baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Mix in two teaspoons sugar. Beat an egg with one cup milk and add also two tablespoons cooking oil. Stir until well mixed, then stir in one cup stoned and chopped dates. Have ready hot iron muffin pans in which a little oil has been heating. The pans and shortening should be so hot that the batter begins to cook as soon as it is put in. Fill within half inch of tops of cups, and bake for 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

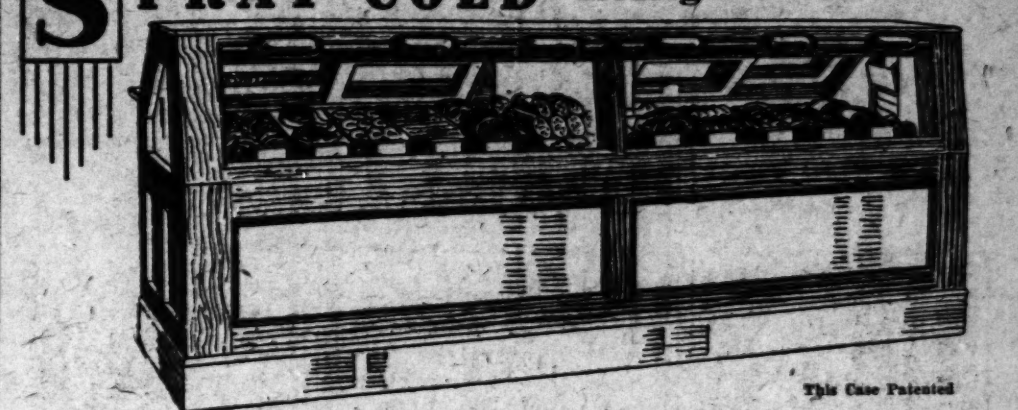

PURE CORN SYRUPS USED IN FEEDINGS FOR BABIES

Many Baby Specialists Now Include Corn Syrup in Milk Formulas for Infants. Leading children specialists now recommend pure corn syrup for the preparation of feedings for babies. A larger amount of corn syrup can be added to milk formulas for babies than either granulated sugar or sugar of milk, without leading to indigestion they claim. Corn syrups are pure, wholesome products and contain nothing which might possibly harm the infant, such as molasses or other substances. They are pure solutions of easily digestible carbohydrates. The proportion of the constituents is that recommended to be least likely to lead to intestinal disorders. Directions for feeding the baby should be given by a physician, but whenever corn syrup is prescribed it may be used with the confidence that it is pure and safe.

For Older Children. Corn syrup is a valuable food for older children. It is excellent in overcoming malnutrition and is better tolerated than ordinary sugar or sugar syrups. Worth Remembering. If cucumbers are wilted, slice them into a bowl of ice water, place in the refrigerator for at least half an hour before using.

should be given by a physician, but whenever corn syrup is prescribed it may be used with the confidence that it is pure and safe.

Onions are a versatile vegetable. Though few home cooks realize it, they concentrate on using the vegetable simply for seasoning. Onions make very tasty main dishes as these recipes for onion soup and onion stuffing with ham will demonstrate.

Chinese Onion Omelet. Ingredients needed are three cups, chopped raw onion, four eggs, one-fourth cup frying fat or cooking oil, one-half tablespoon cornstarch and a dash of pepper. Put the oil in a medium-sized frying pan, add the onion and stir and cook until the onion is softened and tender, stirring often. Add the salt, pepper and cornstarch.

Beat the eggs light, pour in the onion mixture and drop by generous tablespoonfuls into a hot-sized frying pan, containing enough heated oil to barely cover the bottom. Fry first on one side, then on the other, like pancakes, and serve.

Ham Stuffed Onions. Six large white onions, one-half cup minced ham, one tablespoon butter, one cup stale bread crumbs, one tablespoon minced parsley and salt and pepper to taste. Parboil the onion in slightly salted water, then drain and remove the centers. Mix the bread crumbs with the minced ham and add the butter and other seasonings. Fill in the cavities of the onions.

Place in a baking dish and pour around the onions a little stock. Bake in a slow oven about one hour or until the onions are tender and the stock absorbed.

Onion Dumplings. Onion dumplings are made by parboiling onions, then cutting them into quarters half way down, seasoning with a dash of salt and pepper and with butter and covering with biscuit dough. These dumplings should be baked in a moderate oven for 30 minutes.

Red and White Salad. To diced pickled beets and equal parts diced Bermuda onion, mix two tablespoons Mayonnaise to which has been added one and one-half tablespoons of juice from the pickled beets. Serve cold on lettuce.

This
"Timed" Toast Test
Makes it easy

SLICE BREAD! Cut a slice of slo-baked Wonder Bread and a slice from the bread you are now using. Cut them as thick or as thin as you wish, but be certain they are both of equal thickness. Try the thickness you prefer in toast. Then...

HEAT TOASTER! Allow your toaster to get hot and then toast a slice of Wonder Bread until it is as brown as you like to have your toast. Check its toasting time carefully, please. Then toast a slice of the other bread the same length of time you toasted the Wonder slice. Hold them side by side and...

COMPARE THEM! See which is an even golden brown from edge to edge... which slice has no scorched spots... which tastes better, and toasted quicker. We leave the decision up to you!

This remarkable test
has won more than 10,000,000
women to daily use of Slo-Baked Wonder Bread

ALICE ADAMS PROCTOR... tells you about Wonder Bread

WITH so many kinds of bread on your grocer's counter how can you be sure you're choosing the best?

Which of the different wrappers you see contains bread made of super quality ingredients? Which bread is thoroughly baked? Which gives you and your family the most nourishment for your money?

If you, like other careful mothers, are anxious to serve your family the finest brand of this important daily food, I can show you a convincing way to test true bread quality and goodness right in your own home.

It's an unusual Timed Toast Test that today enables every housewife to be her own bread expert. Millions of women all over the country have made this test and discovered that there is a tremendous difference in bread quality.

How You Make It

Get a loaf of slo-baked Wonder Bread and cut slices as thick or thin as you wish. Then cut slices of equal thickness from any other bread you choose. Allow your toaster to get hot.

Now toast the Wonder Bread slice until it is the even golden brown you prefer in toast. Until it is as crisp as you like it. Check the actual toasting time carefully please.

Then toast the slice from the other bread the exact length of time you toasted the Wonder slice. Hold them side by side and compare. You'll be astonished at the obvious difference between them! The Wonder toast will be superior in every detail.

What It Proves

This unique toast test is based on the proved fact that only a scientifically perfect bread made of the finest ingredients can make toast that's an even golden brown over the entire surface, that only a perfectly baked loaf can eliminate scorched spots... uneven toasting... and burned edges. Slo-baked Wonder Bread is such a bread.

Every year we pay $2,000,000 extra for the super-quality ingredients required by the Wonder Bread recipe.

We use a special flour made only from the most nutritious portion of the wheat... the very heart of the wheat berry. Our recipe calls also for more than double the usual quantity of milk, every drop twice pasteurized.

Every Loaf Slo-Baked

Then all the natural flavors and nourishing qualities of these ingredients are sealed in by a special method of baking—each loaf of Wonder Bread is slo-baked.

Slo-baking Wonder Bread means that every loaf is thoroughly baked. Each cell is baked to perfection, and thus Wonder Bread is remarkably easy to digest.

To every woman who tries Wonder Bread I say, "Give it a fair trial! Buy it for a full week. It costs you no more than you're now paying, and several loaves will quickly prove how much better it is for your household needs."

For Every Purpose

Note the variety of sandwiches you can make with it. The modern dainty party kind... or the full meal sandwich that husbands and children like so well. Note how Wonder Bread adds to the flavor of the sandwich itself.

See the delicious dressing for fowl it makes. Note how it retains freshness. How easily it slices.

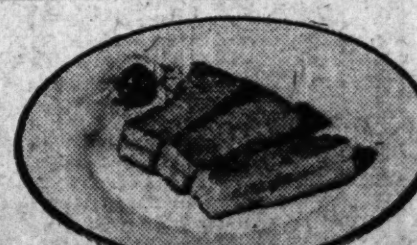

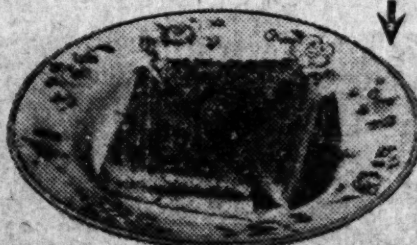

Won't you try a loaf today? It is delivered twice daily to grocery and delicatessen stores.

Also please let me send you my new booklet of sandwich recipes. Mail the coupon below.

PLANNING MENUS FOR THE FAMILY MEALS

This Practice Offers Opportunity for Making Out a Market List.

In planning this week's meals, special attention has been given to the use of the winter vegetables, especially the vitamin-rich cabbage and celery. In the menus that are given here you will notice that one of these are used in some way almost every day. A plentiful supply of such foods now is the best way of insuring against an attack of "spring fever" later on.

On Sunday use stewed celery combined with peas as the vegetable for dinner, and a little celery cooked with the mushrooms for supper. The flavor and the texture of the cooked celery make it popular and useful in such combinations and the added nutritive value makes it well worth the slight additional cost. For the pea and celery combination, use one cup of the cooked, outside stalks of celery cut in dice and stewed in one cup of boiling, salted water for 15 minutes. Then add a No. 2 size can of peas and cook for a few minutes longer. Season with salt, pepper and butter. The juice should not be drained from the peas, as it contains valuable mineral salts. By rapid boiling, most of the liquid will cook away in eight minutes, leaving all the nutritive value in the vegetable.

The bones of the chicken served on Sunday are utilized in making the soup for Monday's lunch. Thicken it with rice and season with a little milk or cream, chopped parsley and a small onion. Plain buttered cabbage is best with corned beef—in fact corned beef without cabbage is difficult to appreciate! New cabbage is in the market, but is quite expensive in comparison with the winter cabbage. Whichever you decide to use, be careful not to cook it too long. It makes it indigestible, so, all in all, the old theory of the necessity for cooking this vegetable for hours has nothing left to recommend it!

Wednesday this week is an all vegetable day, but one that is so carefully planned that the lack of meat will never be noticed.

The baked beans at noontime are a hearty dish that fits well into the scheme of cold weather meals, and at night the rice and cheese croquettes are as tasty and as filling as any meat dish. Besides that they offer such a good variation in the usual run of flavors that the cook will probably be asked to repeat the combination soon again. Celery knobs, boiled and creamed spinach and braised carrots contrast in flavor, colors and texture with the croquettes and make a most attractive vegetable plate. Either arrange a large platter or individual plates with the foods serve two as to get the best effect. The sight of an attractively made up plate such as this goes a long way in winning over any laggards who may be ready to protest a vegetarian meal.

FOOD STYLISTS FEATURE

Combination Dishes of This Type Are Palatable and Wholesome.

Some fruit combinations are so frequently served with meats that it is the exception not to see them together on a bill of fare. For instance, apple sauce is served with roast pork, and raisin sauce with baked ham.

Here are two others equally as good.

Roast Chicken and Apricots. Roast 20 minutes to a pound in moderate oven. Serve with flowers of cauliflower, sprinkled with chopped parsley.

Use this apricot stuffing in preparing this dish:

Apricot Stuffing. Three cups bread crumbs, one-fourth cup blanched and chopped almonds, six large prunes, one cup cooked apricots, one teaspoon salt, one-third cup butter and one teaspoon lemon juice.

Mix bread crumbs, almonds, the cooked prunes, apricots, salt, melted butter and lemon juice.

Pork Roast With Apricots.

Two pounds of chuck or shoulder, one bay leaf, two tablespoons salt, one onion, two whole cloves and two tablespoons fat. Sear meat on both sides in fat. Add onion, bay leaf and cloves. Cover and cook over slow flame two and one-half hours. One-half hour before completion add salt. Serve with stewed apricots on lettuce leaves at one end of the platter.

HOW BUSY COOKS CONSERVE VALUABLE TIME IN BAKING

Cookery Short Cuts Save Housewives Much Expenditure of Time.

A good time saver for a household that uses a good amount of hot breads is keeping on hand a supply of flour sifted with baking powder and salt so that it can be used in a number of recipes.

For one quart of flour allow one teaspoon of salt and four teaspoons of baking powder.

Housewives can go even further than this and make up a quick biscuit mixture by adding to the above one-half cup of shortening, working it in with fingers or fork until it is well blended with the flour.

This may be kept in a jar in the icebox and requires only the addition of milk or water to turn it into a biscuit dough.

WHEN TO SALT COOKED MEAT

Opinions of Food Experts Agree on This Subject.

Meat that is broiled or roasted should be very lightly salted, after being cooked, it at all, in consideration for those members of the family for whose discriminating palates the salt which is present in all animal tissue will be sufficient flavoring.

If meat is to be used for stews, and especially if it is to be boiled and the liquid used as soup, salt may be added at the beginning, but not in excessive quantity.

CHICKEN SALAD LORE

Real Art Required to Make a Tempting Meat Salad.

Salad materials should be cut in uniform, well-defined pieces and small enough so that they will not lose their shape in the folding process.

When both dark and light meat of chicken are used, dice the dark in small cubes and the light in larger cubes. This gives a more pleasing appearance to the salad.

If veal or pork are used to extend the chicken, dice them finer than the chicken and their presence will not be detected.

HOUSEKEEPING TODAY

A SIMPLE MATTER

Commercial Aids Make the Housewife's Tasks Comparatively Easy.

The last 20 years have seen many changes in our necessary food supply. The increase in the general knowledge of the factors of nutrition, and the program of education to enable people to live better, have resulted in the establishment of Government bureaus where the inquiring housewife can secure all sorts of information on the care and feeding of her family, learn how to keep them in a good state of health, and how to maintain her home efficiently. Here the results of experimental work in nutrition are translated into every day terms and made available to those who are interested in keeping up with the latest knowledge in foods and general health.

The radio has brought about a wider distribution of food facts and household information, and the enthusiasm with which people adopt and discard new ideas has seen the rise and fall of many a food fad and health cult. In spite of all the fads and of the confusion that sometimes results from them, feeding the family efficiently is certainly a much simpler task than it was a generation ago.

It is only a comparatively short time since the household where commercial canned foods were used was considered slack and on the sure road to destruction.

Today scientific research has shown us how to make our canning factories models of sanitation and efficiency and taught the importance of turning out high-grade products. In fact these are often higher in nutritive value than the same foods cooked in the home kitchen. In actual food value, good grades of commercial canned foods compare very favorably with the home-made varieties. It is possible now to buy almost all kinds of foods canned in glass or tins, so that there is a wider variety of foods all year round.

Today housewives select foods according to their nutritive value and to the quantity required to build up a balanced diet.

There are different classes of food, and each class has a definite work to do. Some are used for building body tissue, others in the production of energy or working power, while others are vitally important in the regulation of body processes and in the normal functioning of the various organs of the body.

The word "vitamins" has come into general use and while the average person is perhaps rather vague on the subject of defining "vitamins" he nevertheless knows that certain foods such as fruits, green vegetables, butter and milk are good sources of these substances and he takes care to include them in his diet.

There is a wider appreciation of the importance of a good mineral supply in the diet of children. Almost every mother now knows that milk is the best source of lime or calcium and that by the use of one quart a day for each child in the household, she can rest assured that a supply adequate for building purposes is insured.

FROZEN DESSERTS INCLUDED IN YEAR ROUND FOOD LIST

In Earlier Years Icy Cold Dishes Considered Warm Weather Food.

People usually think of frozen desserts as warm weather foods, yet their popularity and their wholesomeness is giving them an ever increasing place in the year around food list. This is especially true since the use of mechanical refrigerators makes it so easy to prepare these desserts at home. Their food value depends on the materials used in making them. The sherbets and water ices which are made up chiefly of fruit juices and sugar do not have as high a food value as the ice creams made with milk or cream.

Nevertheless, they are valuable as foods because of their high mineral content, and their cooling, refreshing flavors.

Mousses and the rich frozen desserts are very high in food value because of the large amount of cream used in them.

PLANNING SPECIAL DIETS

Housewives Often Are Called on to Prepare Special Menus.
Sometimes it is necessary to plan
a diet that contains a higher percentage of energy foods than is generally used.

When this is the case, remember that the following foods should be included and used wisely, but according to a physician's direction—dried peas, beans and lentils, butter, cream, olive oil and other fats, dried fruits, sugar, bread,
nuts, pastry and meat.

USE FOR OUTER LEAVES
OF A HEAD OF LETTUCE

They Are Seldom Tough or Bitter
As Supposition Has Fanned Them.

Shredded, they add a pleasing touch of color to the salad. Or they may be utilized to advantage in making the delicious Italian dish, cream of lettuce soup.

To make this wholesome soup
use the coarse outer leaves of a head of lettuce and chop very fine.
Add two and a half cups stock (or water) and two tablespoons minced onion and cook 20 minutes.
Cream together two tablespoons butter and two tablespoons of flour. Stir into two and a half cups hot milk and cook 30 minutes in a double boiler. Add lettuce and seasonings, bring to a boil and serve at once.

APPETIZING USES OF WINTER VEGETABLES

Savory Dishes That Will Add to the Pleasures of the Table.

Oyster plant is sometimes called salafy. It is bought in bunches and one large bunch or two medium-sized ones will serve six people.

Scalloped Oyster Plant.
Cut the tops off and scrape the roots. Cut across in slices and drop at once into cold water so which has been added a teaspoon each of salt and lemon juice. Oyster plant discolors very readily on exposure to the air, but if dropped into cold water, it will keep its color better.

When all the vegetable is prepared, drain, cover with boiling water and boil 20 minutes. Drain, add two cups of thin white sauce
to which has been added one tablespoon of minced green pepper.
Pour into a buttered baking dish,
spread a layer of buttered bread crumbs over the top and bake 10 minutes in a hot oven.

Cabbage and Apple Salad.
Mix three cups of finely shredded cabbage with one cup of diced
sour apples, one tablespoon shredded green pepper and one-half cup thin mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing. Serve on lettuce or small tender cabbage leaves. If the apples are red ones, they are more attractive if diced without peeling.

Beets au Gratin.
Boil beets for one hour or until tender. Rinse in cold water, slip off the skins and cut the beets in quarter-inch slices. Place in a greased baking dish and cover with the following sauce, which is enough for six medium-sized beets:

Melt two tablespoons of butter,
add three tablespoons of flour and stir in one cup of cold water. Stir constantly until thickened and smooth, then add one-fourth cup of evaporated milk, one tablespoon lemon juice, two tablespoons minced parsley and one-fourth cup grated cheese. Stir until the cheese is melted, pour over the beets and cover with a layer of buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a hot oven for 10 minutes.

Stuffed Cabbage.
Boil the whole head of cabbage
in slightly salted water about 20 minutes. Drain well. With a sharp knife hollow out the cabbage until only a shell is left. Chop the cabbage which has been cut out and add to it left-over cooked vegetables (carrots, celery, peas, potatoes, string beans, lima beans) and pimiento, minced. Marinate this mixture with French dressing. Fill the shell and serve with mayonnaise if desired.

HELPS FOR HOUSEWIVES

The Printed Word Helps to Make Housekeeping Simple.

The food pages of the newspapers, booklets and the pamphlets distributed by the Government and by the home economics departments of the large food companies that employ dietitians or trained home economics women, make it possible for the average housewife to buy foods intelligently, to select it according to the needs of her family, to cook it attractively
and to serve it in an appetizing manner.

There are many short cuts possible for those whose time is limited, and there are wholesome, nutritious and varied foods that may be bought practically ready to serve and at a moderate cost.

Because of all these aids, housekeeping today is a simpler matter than in the days of our grandmothers.

COOLED BREAKFAST EGGS
Many Persons Prefer Them to the Soft-Boiled Article.

Place the eggs in a dish and
then pour boiling water over them.
It must be boiling, not merely hot.
Two quarts or more being the right amount for a dozen eggs. Cover and set where they will keep hot and yet not boil, for 10 or 12 minutes.

If only one or two eggs are being cooked, a larger proportion of hot water must be used so it will not cool too quickly.
This method not only gives an exact result, but preserves the delicacy of flavor as well.

Broiled Haddock.
Cut fillet of haddock in portions lay in French dressing at least 10 minutes. Have a very hot broiler, broil fish three minutes on one side, turn it and finish broiling allowing eight minutes in all. Fish left all night in this dressing has a very delightful flavor when broiled.

Onion Sauce.
Melt two tablespoons butter,
add one and one-half cups chopped onions and brown lightly. Add two tablespoons flour and blend well. Add one and one-half cups well seasoned stock and cook gently until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. Serve hot.

Prune Juice.
Strain the juice from stewed sweetened prunes and add a drop of vanilla extract. Serve in small glasses. Or add the vanilla to the prunes after they have been cooked in the usual manner. Vary
the flavoring with cinnamon,
orange or lemon extract.

CHOCOLATE NUT BROWNIES

Small Cakes Which Might Be Classed as Confections.
Cookies, which might, perhaps be classed as confections, are
chocolate nut brownies.

To make these beat two eggs, add one out of sugar, two squares of chocolates, melted, one-half cup
of butter and one-half cup of flour.
Flavor with one teaspoon of vani-

lin and stir in one cup of broken nut meats.

Bake in a well-buttered square
pan for about 10 minutes in a moderate oven. While hot, cut in two-inch squares with a hot knife.

HAVE you ever wondered, after reading the account of one of

With all the teas of the world to

When This Trouble Gets Its Grip You Can't Keep Well. What You Need Is Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

That tired feeling, that persistent headache, that bad breath are often symptoms of constipation. There is only one thing to do—clean out your system. Do it now or you may be seriously sick. Your intestines are clogged because you have not eaten enough roughage. And there is no better roughage than that healthful, appetizing cereal—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

ALL-BRAN is a natural food that brings natural results regularly. Its fiber content sweeps the intestines clean of poisonous wastes. Much better than habit-forming pills which become useless unless their dose is increased.

In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is rich in iron. Scientific research has proved that practically all of this iron goes into the blood—bringing the glowing color of health to the complexion and strengthening the entire body. A wonderful way to enjoy keeping well!

SERVE SWEETBREADS FOR DINNER TONIGHT

These Meat Products Are Included in the List of Delicacies.

Every season brings either an abundance or a shortage of specific foods and it is the homemaker who buys the food found in abundance that saves the most and serves her family the best. At this time there happens to be an over supply of a food formerly considered a delicacy, but today, because of its relatively low cost, may grace the family table. That food is the calf sweetbread, delicious, tender morsels, easily digested and a most acceptable change for the main meat dish.

The homemaker may buy these in pairs or singly. Perhaps it would be well to explain just what is meant by a pair of sweetbreads. The calf's animal has two very desirable sweetbreads, the throat and the heart. These are connected—thus the word "pair." The throat sweetbread is the long and narrow one, while the heart sweetbread offers a very chunky piece of meat about the size of a school child's fist. Many consider the heart sweetbread the choicer but both are delicious eating.

Because sweetbreads are a very delicate food they require special care in handling. They should always be kept very cold and away from contamination. When the sweetbreads reach the home kitchen they should be washed thoroughly in cold water. Then soaked in cold water for about one hour, drained and covered with boiling salted water, allowing one and one-half teaspoons of salt and one teaspoon vinegar to each pint or two cups of water. Simmer for 20 minutes. Then drain and plunge into cold water again, until thoroughly cold and until time to fix them for the meal.

They may be served in a tomato, cream or brown sauce; cut into halves, dipped in melted butter and broiled for 15 to 20 minutes; breaded and fried in deep fat or sautéed in bacon drippings; served as a salad or en casserole. In fact, attractive uses for calf sweetbreads are almost limitless because of the deliciousness of the meat.

For the bridge luncheon, the formal or informal luncheon party, or dinner for the family meal, calf sweetbreads offer something different. The following are a few specific recipes for the use of calf sweetbreads.

Creamed Sweetbreads. Prepare sweetbreads, chit and spread both sides with tartar sauce. Roll in crumbs, then in beaten egg and again in crumbs. Fry in deep fat for three to five minutes. Drain on paper. Garnish with lemon and parsley.

New England Marmalade. Use five pounds sugar, two and one-half cups water, two oranges, five pounds tart apples, two lemons. Add sugar and water together until sugar is dissolved. Wash and slice oranges and apples very thin and add lemon juice. Add to syrup and boil very slowly until thick, about one hour and 15 minutes. Turn into sterilized glasses or jars and when cold cover with melted paraffin.

Serve Eggs for Luncheon. New possibilities of eggs as the basis of luncheon dishes are constantly being discovered. An ingenious cook will add anything to them from minced green pepper or plump to cheese or mushrooms, and, behold, a new and very appetizing dish.

Carrot Marmalade. Wash and scrape three pounds carrots and steam them until they are soft. Chop fine and mix with juice and grated rind of one lemon and juice and grated rind of two oranges and three pounds of sugar. Cook gently about one hour.

Standards PURE BRAN
Corrects faulty elimination.
Eat it in form of a cereal, use in cooking, add a teaspoonful or two to your favorite dish. It will improve the flavor and increase its nutritive value.

Coke Mason, as the Champion, Begins to Get a Taste of High Life in the Sportier Social Set.

SYNOPSIS.

A few days before his fight with Mike Shay, middleweight champion, Coke Mason receives a letter from his wife, Rose, Regan, Coke's manager and pal since boyhood, had tried to make Coke forget Rose after she deserted him, thinking he was a dumb "palooka." The night of the fight finds the hall packed. The crowd yells wildly when Coke, who has been stalling, suddenly lets go with his right and Mike Shay, the champion, is out on his feet. After the fight, Coke hastens to visit Rose. Regan goes with him. They meet Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, friends of Rose. Lewis is an over-dressed Broadway type.

CHAPTER 23.

TWO days after his defeat of Soldier Bayless, a slugging match that greatly increased his popularity, Coke appeared at Kid Halloran's gymnasium in a form-fitting overcoat, a derby and spats. He was wearing a big diamond ring and was carrying a cane. Jeff Davis came over to shake hands with him.

"Hello, champ," he said. "How you feeling?"

"Good," said Coke. "Only I got a bad hand from hitting the Soldier."

"Some go," said Jeff. "Coke saw that Jeff was looking him over."

"Well," he said, "what do you think of the get-up?"

"It don't look natural," said Jeff. "I'd rather see you in an old pair of pants and a sweater."

"Sure," he said. "I'd feel more comfortable. But I got to dress up now on account of the missus."

"Yeah," said Jeff. "In a moment, Rose was surrounded. Hands were shoved at him, and everybody talked at once. Across the gymnasium, beyond the noon business men's class, Hattler O'Keefe was working out with Ruby Hall, and Regan was watching him. Coke went over to see Regan, followed by the crowd. Just as Coke came up Ruby Hall sent a left to O'Keefe's ribs and doubled him up, but O'Keefe crouched and came in for more, shuffling awkwardly.

"That boy's tough," said Jeff. "You should've seen him lay Kid Green flat."

"Hell," said Coke, "the Kid must've run into one."

Regan clapped his hands for the fighters to stop.

"Rattler," he said, "go take a shower."

"Yes, sir," said O'Keefe. "Regan saw Coke and called: 'Say, Jeff, introduce me to the Prince of Wales, will you?'"

"Hello, champ," said O'Keefe. "Hello," said Coke. "How they coming?"

"Fine, champ. When you gonna work out with me?"

"I'd do it right now if I didn't have a bad hand," said Coke, smiling.

"All right, Rattler," said Regan; "beat it."

"Yes, sir," said O'Keefe and went toward the showers.

"THERE'S a boy that's gonna knock your block off some day," said Regan, taking Coke by the lapels.

Coke pulled away. "Quit showing off in public," Regan rubbed his chin and stared at Coke. Then he shrugged his shoulders.

"Excuse me," he said. "I forgot you was the champ."

Coke laughed. "All right, George," he said; "only lay off me in public, see? It don't look right."

"I'll bet the missus taught you that song," said Regan, walking away.

"What's the matter with him?" Coke inquired of Jeff.

"You got me," said Jeff. "Kid Halloran came over to introduce somebody to Coke. I'm gonna meet my wife at The Commander today, so."

"Enough said," Mr. Coon put in.

"George," said the Kid, "I wish you wouldn't do that right out in public. I got to be careful."

"Make it today. How about 2 o'clock?"

"Well," said Coke, "the only thing is, I was gonna take my manager out to lunch today."

"Oh, you mean Regan," said Mr. Coon. "Well, bring him along. That'll be fine."

"Thanks, Mr. Coon," said Coke. "I'll see you then," said Mr. Coon.

WHEN he had gone back to his class, the Kid said:

"Cultivate that boy, champ. He's got so much money he don't know what to do with it."

"Yeah."

"He's rich, that guy," the Kid went on, "and he works every day. He's got a brokerage office or something. Swell guy. That's the kind of people we want to get interested in the game, champ."

"Sure," said Coke.

Regan, who was standing across the ring watching Coke, took a flask out of his pocket and drank, then he put the flask away and came over to him.

"George," said the Kid, "I wish to God you wouldn't do that right out in public. I got to be careful. When you want a drink, go back in the washroom."

"You pugs make me sick," said Regan. "You're getting so nice pretty soon you'll be carrying handkerchiefs."

"Give the Kid a break, George," said Coke.

"Yes, sir, champion," said Regan, bowing. "I'll also give him a punch in the nose if he gets fresh with me."

Halloran walked away. Coke saw that Regan was beginning to get drunk. He took him by the arm.

"George," he said, "can't you leave that poison alone? It's gonna get you, George."

"Listen," said Coke, "how about Richy Kelleher? Remember the night he went bug out in Omaha and a cop had to slug him? Yeah, and remember when we went out to the sanitarium to see him and they wouldn't let us in he was so bad?"

"Yeah, and I remember his funeral," said Regan. "What about it?"

"Well," said Coke, "that's what"

"Thank you, champ," said Mr. Coon. "I always did want to shake your hand ever since you ficked Prince Pearl. It took you to do it."

"Thanks," said Coke.

"I was just wondering," said Mr. Coon. "If you and your wife wouldn't take lunch with me some day. Any day will do."

Coke looked at Kid Halloran, who winked at him.

"Well," said Coke, "I don't have downtown much, but I'm gonna meet my wife at The Commander today, so."

Daily Story FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

Saint Valentine

"I'M GOING to take you back this evening to the third century. That's quite a while back, for you know we're living in the twentieth century, the Little Black Clock said.

So he took John and Peggy across the water by means of a swift magic plane, and they saw a friendly, nice man whose name was Bishop Valentine.

They followed him about and they saw him doing all sorts of kind acts, and helping people all he could.

But then the Little Black Clock said they had better leave and that on their way back home he would tell them the rest of the story.

The boys were very tired in those days and they were cruel to the kindly man whom they just saw," the clock said. "But as time went on the tales of his good deeds spread about all his gifts to people who needed help were told from one person to the next, until people began to say, 'Why, he was so good and kind. He was a perfect saint.'"

"After awhile people began to call him a saint, and so now we speak of St. Valentine, and that is why people send around valentines to each other, showing they think nice, friendly, affectionate thoughts."

"I never knew there was such a person as St. Valentine," said Peggy.

"And wouldn't he be surprised if he saw some of the valentines I get? Why this morning I got one that wasn't a bit pretty. It was funny and there was a picture which looked something like me and yet it was so funny. I guess John sent it!"

John didn't say anything except, "So that's how we got Valentine's day, is it?"

China Cabinet Shelves

OUR mothers decorated the shelves of the china closet with overhanging doilies or fancy shelf paper and these were frequently changed.

This custom has passed into oblivion and the shelves of cabinets, whether separate or built in, are left bare so there is nothing to detract from the beautiful china and glassware.

In the modern separate types the doors of china cabinets are usually of an ornate nature, and this subdues the glaring effect of the china and glass, but in the built-in cabinets the doors are of plain glass, and in large ones take up considerable wall space. These, therefore, will look better if curtained and that is the present custom.

If you prefer to display your best china, glass, silver, etc., you may have the curtains of fine net or sheer marquisette. When tightly drawn between the upper and lower rods, the contents of the cabinet will be visible and the effect will be more attractive than the unadorned door and more modern than any decoration on the shelves of the cabinet.

PENROD JASHBER

By Booth Tarkington

CHAPTER 29. NEW STARS ARISE.

THE midsummer morning was languid with its own warmth; the Schofield's back yard lay aglow in mellow sunshine, and Penrod and Sam stood enthralled, staring at a magnificent creature that had discovered upon the stalk of a lark bush in the fence corner. It might have been a pixie's confection, painted dusty green and ornamented with brilliant pool lights from a six pool table; but Penrod and Sam it was known as a "tobacco-worm"—the largest and fattest they had ever seen. The two boys stared in silence for a long time; finally, Penrod spoke in a hoarse voice.

"I wonder what he's thinking about," and in fact, it was reasonable to suppose the motionless creature lost in reverie.

"Thinkin' about how fat he is, maybe," Sam suggested.

"I bet you don't know which end his head is," said Penrod, his tone edged with impudence. "This tobacco-worm of ignorance was one of Sam's many inferiorities."

"I bet you don't, either," Penrod retorted crossly.

"Well, I say I did!"

"Well, whoever said you did say you did?"

Sam looked, annoyed and also somewhat confused. "Well, you said," he began, "you said I didn't know which end his head is, and 'Well, you don't know which end his head is.'"

"Well, whoever said I did?"

"Well, I didn't say I—"

"Well, whoever said you did say you did?"

"Look here," Sam began; but paused, bewildered by that feeling of having done the same thing before, which inclines people, sometimes, to believe in the theory of reincarnation.

A movement on the part of the creature distracted the attention of both boys, momentarily, from their inept feud.

"Look!" Penrod cried. "He's moving!"

"Climbin' up the bush," Sam murmured. "That shows which end his head is on; it's on top."

"It doesn't have to be on top just because he's climbin' up the bush," Penrod returned scornfully. "I guess he could turn up, just as well as climbin' up, couldn't he?"

"Well, he wouldn't," Sam argued. "What would he turn up for when he could just as well climbin' up? His head's on top of him, and that proves it."

"It doesn't, either," Penrod retorted. "Where's his face? The only way you can prove where his head is, is where his face is, isn't it?"

"No, it isn't," Sam cried hotly. "He hasn't got any face; and besides, his top end looks just as much like his face as his bottom end. You can't tell the difference. Anyway, anybody with good sense would know his head's on top of him. He wouldn't want to have it on his back, would he?"

"How do you know what he'd want?" Penrod demanded. "He might want it some place else just as well as on top."

"Well, what for?" Sam asked impatiently. "What on earth would he want it some place else for?"

"What for?" Penrod was sure of a coming triumph in the debate. "You don't know what for?"

"No, I don't, and you don't, either."

"Oh, I don't, don't I?"

"No, you don't!" Sam shouted. "You can prove it!"

"Well, prove it then."

"Well, look here. Suppose something was after him; he'd want to have his face on his bottom end so he could keep watchin' out to see if it was comin' after him up the stalk, wouldn't he? That proves it, I guess!"

"I did—so far as Sam Williams was concerned. Sam was over-whelmed; he had nothing to say, and Penrod was not disposed to make his triumph any easy one for the vanquished. "Well," he jeered. "I guess that shows how much you know about worms!"

Sam had the grace to admit a far defeat. "Maybe I don't," he said, with manly humbleness. "About tobacco worms, I don't suppose I ever saw more'n five or six in my life." He dug the ground with the toe of his shoe, dependently, then brightened, all at once, with the advent of a recollection. "I bet I know something about grasshoppers that you don't."

"I bet you don't!"

"Well, I can prove it."

"Go ahead and prove it!"

"I bet you don't know grasshoppers chew tobacco."

At this, Penrod yelled in delight.

"Do, too!" Sam asserted indignantly.

Penrod laughed, gesticulated, and bowed. He was eloquent. "You wait!" Sam began to browse in the grass, searching for his friend, in order to expose a poignant incredulity. There himself full length beneath the bush, rolled on his stomach, repeated insults, beat the ground with his hands and wriggled his toes in the air.

"Grasshoppers chew tobacco!" boomed Penrod. "Grasshoppers chew tobacco! Grasshopper—oh, ho, ho, ho!"

"Here," said Sam, bringing a grasshopper for his inspection. "You watch him, now." He gave the grasshopper a command, squeezed him slightly about the middle, and proved the case also-lutely. "Look there!" he cried, flourishing the exhibit upon his thumbnail. "Now, say grasshoppers don't chew tobacco!"

Penrod was beside himself but not (as would have been proper) with confusion; ecstasy was his emotion—and there followed a bad quarter of an hour for the grasshoppers in that portion of the yard.

"Pshaw!" said Sam. "I've known grasshoppers chew tobacco ever since I was five years old."

"You never said anything about it!" Penrod exclaimed, marveling at such reticence. It seemed to him, just now, that he would never know another instant of ennui so long as he lived—at least, not in grasshopper time.

"I thought pretty near everybody knew grasshoppers chewed tobacco," Sam said modestly. "You told me I didn't know much about worms, and I said I bet I knew something about grasshoppers you didn't know—but I kind of thought you did, though."

"What else can they do?" Penrod's tone indicated that a severe denunciation was no more than Sam's due in all matters concerning grasshoppers.

"Nothin'. That's all they're good for."

"Where'd you s'pose they get their tobacco in the first place? Hop around stores, you guess?"

"Yes; lots of other places."

THE experiment had been repeated ad nauseum until all the available grasshoppers were in no condition immediately to pursue their habits—or their good ones, for that matter—and Penrod paused to seek further knowledge at its recent fountain-head. "Sam, do you know anything else?" he inquired hopefully.

"Yes, I do!" replied Master Williams with justified resentment.

"I mean," Penrod explained. "I mean: Do you know anything else I don't know?"

"Oh!" Sam was mollified at once. "Well, I guess probably I do," he said thoughtfully. "Lemme see. Oh, yes! I bet you don't know if you put a black hair from a horse's tail in a bottle and put water in it, and leave it there for three weeks, it'll turn into a snake."

"Do, too!" said Penrod. "I know that, ever since I was a little." "I bet you haven't known it any longer!" I have. I knew it when I was little, too."

Everybody knows a black hair from a horse's tail will turn into a snake," Penrod declared. "Who doesn't know that?"

"Well, I never said they didn't, did I?"

"Well, who said you did say—?" Penrod paused, a sudden light in his eyes. "Sam, did you ever try it?"

"No," said Sam thoughtfully. "I guess when I heard it we didn't have any horse, and I was too little to get one from any other people's horse—or something."

Penrod jumped up eagerly. "Where's your horse?" he shouted.

"Yay!" This jubilant outcry from Sam demonstrated what reciprocal fires of enthusiasm were kindled in his bosom on the instant. "Where's your horse?"

Simultaneously their eyes fell upon what they sought. In the side street stood a grocer's wagon, and the grocer had just gone into the kitchen. Attached to the wagon was an elderly bay horse. Attached to the elderly bay horse was a black tail. The prospective snake manufacturers drew near the raw material.

"Go on," Sam urged. "Pull 'em out. Two's enough."

Penrod rubbed his face, and looked thoughtful. "I wonder if they wouldn't do just as well from his mane," he said.

"No, sir! They got to be from his tail. I know that much!"

PENROD glanced uneasily at the horse's horizontal ears. "You pull 'em, Sam," he suggested, edging away. "I'll go and be gettin' the bottles ready to put 'em in."

"No, sir!" Sam insisted. "You started to pull 'em and you ought to do it. I didn't start to pull 'em, did I?"

"Now, see here!" Penrod became argumentative. "You did know where to find any bottles, and—"

"You better quit talkin' so much," Sam interrupted doggedly. "Go ahead and pull those two hairs out of his ole tail or pretty soon the man'll come out and drive him away—and then where'll we be? You started to do it, and so it's your business to go ahead and do it, and don't talk so much about it. That's the way to do a thing."

"Well, I am goin' to, ain't I?"

"Now!" Sam exclaimed. "He's quit lookin' at us. Quick!"

Seizing this opportunity, Penrod ventured the deed and was rewarded. The elderly horse seemed to have forgotten his animosity; his mood had become one of depression merely; he hung his head, and marked the ravishment by nothing more than a slight shudder. "There!" said Penrod; and, as they went back into the yard, he glanced disdainfully at the gloomy quadruped. "It's easy to get hairs out of a horse's tail for a person that knows the right way to do it. I bet I could of pulled his whole tail out!"

"If I Were Starting COLLEEN MOORE All Over Again" By

Well Known Movie Actress Announces Her Immminent Retirement and Offers Beginners Some Good Advice

MISS MOORE.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 14. WRITE this in your little memorandum book: "Colleen Moore, motion picture actress, Irish, youthful veteran of many films, married to John McCormick, producer, announces that she will make four more screen appearances, and only four. Then she will close her makeup kit, bid the studios a fond adieu and call it a day. Her work as an actress, she says, will be ended."

Write that in your book, then any time thereafter check on what Colleen is doing. You likely will find her at home trying to be a good fit to the wife and raising from 12 years or more of hard, hard work in the Hollywood studios. I don't know how long I will be in making those last four pictures. But I have definitely decided that there will be no more. I've had my share of the laurels, have laid by a sufficiency of worldly goods and now am content to the time when I want to rest and enjoy with my husband what we have earned.

I will be stepping aside at the peak. Isn't it better that way? There can be no regrets.

Looking back over my career, I often ask myself if I would do it all over again; and my answer always is: "If I knew as much as I do now, I wouldn't start at all!"

THE heartaches, the disappointments, the disillusionments in those lean, hard years—the kicks that hurt! But, understand, I did not know then what I know now. I started all filled with enthusiasm and ambition, and I would do it again—unless I knew what I know now—and I would work just as hard and unceasingly and with the idea of up-and-at-'em constantly in mind. And don't get the idea that any motion picture star ever attained her position without hard, nerve-racking work. Each got her "break" when it came and made the most of the chances that were hers.

I have watched beautiful girls come to Hollywood, hundreds of them, seeking careers. They have come from all over the world. They obtained, sometimes, extra work—just atmosphere in pictures. Many times I have watched them, invariably in each crowd one will be singing, two, possibly three, or maybe three, throw their whole souls into their meager opportunity. They stand out far above the others in the mob. Between scenes you find them on the set, studying the ways of the star and the featured players, while the others sit at one side playing cards, reading books and interested, apparently, in nothing.

RIGHT from those one or two or three players will emerge, in time, the featured actresses and possibly the new stars. There is not a successful actress in pictures today who did not earn her position by forever trying, by doing her best with every opportunity and by being alert every minute of her day. The girl who thinks she can come to Hollywood, have a good time and simply walk her way through pictures, laboring under an illusion. It hasn't been done and it can't be done. Beauty is an asset, but not amensal, never have laid claim to beauty and I have done no particular crowing over my figure. I don't think any one else has.

Well, if I had it all to do over again, how would I start? I'd get a complete wardrobe of pretty dresses. And by that I mean really pretty and becoming dresses, which cost considerable money. I'll tell you why presently. Then I would go to some little theater, to a stock company, if possible, and apply for a position where I might learn stage presence. The hardest thing in the world is to appear natural when acting before the camera, and there is no better place to learn being natural than on the stage. After I'd had my stage experience—found myself—I'd move on to Hollywood with sufficient money to supply all needs for a year. I'd take with me the very nicest clothing I could buy. I am stressing clothing because it is essential. For example: Loretta Young came on to my set at First National a year or so ago to see her sister, Sally Blinn. She was only 14 years old. But she was beautifully dressed and carried herself with a grace and a poise which attracted my attention. "Why don't you give that pretty girl a screen test?" I asked. "We should be able to use her."

The test was taken, and rejected because her teeth protruded. "But a dentist can correct that," I insisted.

Loretta did have her teeth corrected and she promptly began zooming along in pictures. She is well ahead today because she has had the willingness to work. Yet it was really her clothing and poise which won attention.

AFTER he had been given my first employment I would (knowing what I do now) do my utmost to make myself stand

Help him build his bones strong his teeth sound —with Bottled Sunshine!

"If your baby's bones are to grow strong and straight, if his teeth are to come in sound, even and uncrowded, he must have special protection. Even the breast-fed baby needs it." Authorities are today stressing this fact to mothers.

Scientists say that there are two plentiful sources of protection. Sunshine and good cod-liver oil! Sunshine could keep your baby safe if he could get enough of it on his bare body. But clothing and bad weather prevent this. Even ordinary window glass filters out the rays that protect.

For this reason physicians have come to depend upon "Bottled Sunshine"—good cod-liver oil—

YOU sometimes hear that some other loaf is "as good as Bond Bread." When people want to speak in the highest terms of anything, they say that "it is as good as gold." Of course, it is not as good as gold unless it is gold, and no bread can be as good as Bond Bread unless it is Bond Bread.
